

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES.

FOURTEENTH YEAR

GETTYSBURG, PA., MONDAY, APRIL 10th, 1916.

PRICE TWO CENTS

1916
HATS

WE ARE NOW SHOWING
THE VERY LATEST

Spring :-: Styles,

Hats, Ties & Gents Furnishings

ECKERT'S STORE

"On The Square"

1916
HATS

1916
HATS

PHOTOPLAY

NEAL OF THE NAVY..... EPISODE TWELVE
"Backed by the United States Navy" is the title of this excellent number of the series. In this episode Joe Welch surprises us in living up to the manhood that is in him and putting up a good fight for Annette.
MATCHING DREAMS..... TWO REEL AMERICAN
A very pleasing two reel number featuring VIVIAN RICH and ALFRED VOSBURGH. The girl, a dressmaker, falls heir to a horse and riding habit for a time and meets the young man out in the country. She pretends to be Rosalind and he Orlando.

ADMISSION 5 CENTS TO ALL SHOW STARTS AT 6:30

TO-MORROW—A FIVE REEL FEATURE MUTUAL MASTER-PICTURE "THE DEVIL" FROM FRANZ MOLNAR'S FAMOUS PLAY FEATURING BESSIE BARRISCALL AND EDWARD J. CONNELLY.

WALTER'S THEATRE

To-night

JESSE L. LASKY PRESENTS

The World's Greatest Prima Donna

GERALDINE FARRAR

In a magnificent spectacular picturization of

"CARMEN"

EVENING SHOWS 6.30 and 8.45

SPECIAL MUSICAL PROGRAM BY ORCHESTRA

Admission, 15c

Children, 10c

An Unusually fine Box of Writing Paper 25 cents.

Better buy now before the Advance in Price.

PEOPLE'S DRUG STORE

WE Now Announce STETSONS For Spring 1916

VIGOROUS, well-modeled hats that appeal to masculine ideas of good dress. Shapes and shades personally selected for the men of this town—soft felts and derbies—in the rich textures so intimately associated with a Stetson. As you step into our store, a salesman is ready to help you make a choice. Our service is as prompt as our Stetsons are distinctive.

ROGERS, : MARTIN : COMPANY

LIME-SULFUR SOLUTION

It will absolutely test 33 degrees on the Baume hydrometer, and represents the ideal combination of lime and sulfur in solution. S-W Lime-Sulfur Solution is the best product manufactured for use in spraying for San Jose Scale, and is the ideal fungicide for the treatment of fungus troubles.

FOR SALE BY THE

Gettysburg Department Store

BILLY SUNDAY COMES TO TOWN

Refuses to Talk. Takes Luncheon on Battlefield. Mel. Trotter with him. Ma Sunday here too. Come by Rail.

Bundled in a heavy overcoat, its collar turned up and covering all of his face except the eyes and nose, Billy Sunday was whirled through Gettysburg this morning, after the arrival of the train from Baltimore, for his long awaited tour of the battlefield.

Sunday's trip here was arranged on short notice. Last evening a telephone call was sent to Gettysburg to learn weather conditions and, when it was found that the day would likely be clear and the temperature not too low, it was decided to make the visit. Carl R. Gray, president of the Western Maryland Railway, invited Mr. Sunday and his personal friends to come here as the guests of the road and the invitation was quickly accepted.

Comparatively few persons knew when the party would arrive. The general impression was that they would come by automobile and when the 10:16 train pulled in, scarcely a score of persons were on hand to see Sunday and "Ma".

Almost the instant the train came to a stop Sunday was on the observation platform of the car. Nervously he watched the porter lift the portion of the floor covering the steps and he was off the car and walking down the station platform ahead of every one else. Smaller than the numerous newspaper pictures would lead the reader to imagine him, Sunday was not at first recognized and many asked "Which is he", and expressed surprise that he was so small of stature.

As Sunday stepped from the car he was greeted by Rev. J. B. Baker, Rev. F. E. Taylor, and Rev. W. R. Glen, of the Gettysburg churches, and Rev. C. W. Baker, of the Lutheran Church at New Oxford. This is the day for the meeting of the Adams County Ministerium and it was hoped that Sunday would agree to speak somewhere, both for the benefit of the ministers, and for others who might care to hear him. The invitation was quickly and courteously extended. As quickly and as courteously it was declined, Billy remarking,

"No thank you. Not to-day. I'm here for pleasure, for a little recreation I don't wish to do anything but just have a good time."

The refusal to speak was done in the utmost of good nature and yet with such finality that the clergymen realized at once that it would be useless to urge their request and they smilingly withdrew, though evidently keenly disappointed.

On his way up the depot platform Sunday stopped a moment for a pleasant talk with the men handling the express, and waved a "good-bye" to the engineman as he passed the locomotive. Mr. Sunday was given a seat in one of the tourist wagons of Holtzworth and Holtzworth, by the side of Herbert Allison, who acted as the guide. Billy covered himself with a heavy laprobe, sank back into his ample overcoat, pulled his cap down and his collar up and announced that he was ready for the trip. A brand new pair of storm overshoes, purchased specially for the Gettysburg trip, insured his feet against cold and dampness. A map of the field which the party had studied on their way here lay across Sunday's lap and was consulted frequently during the trip.

On the seat behind "Billy" was "Ma", happy and smiling, and ready to greet in the most friendly fashion every one who was introduced to her. Sunday seemed to show signs of extreme nervousness and the effects of the severe strain to which he is subjected. Mrs. Sunday showed nothing but composure, contentment, and good feeling in her face and bearing.

Others of the immediate party occupied the first wagon which was in charge of Herbert Allison, and the second wagon, with William Degroft as the guide, followed with the rest. A smaller vehicle with William Allison followed and had the press representatives who accompanied the Sunday party to Gettysburg.

The route over the battlefield was the one usually taken. It lay out Chambersburg street to the Reynolds and Buford statues, where a lecture was given, and then out West Confederate avenue. The chef on the private car prepared luncheon and served it at Round Top shortly after

RESUME WORK AT THE BRICK PLANT

Local Man Named as Manager of the Gettysburg Yards. Will Start Active Operations with Full Force Next Week.

Operations at the Gettysburg brick plant will be resumed within the next few weeks with the usual force of hands. They will be kept busy with the orders now on hand and with a number of others about to be closed. Twenty five men will be employed at the outset when operations are resumed.

W. E. Dornbach, manager of the plant of the Auburn Shale Brick Company at Auburn, has been appointed by that company to the superintendency of both the Auburn and Gettysburg plants, succeeding W. F. Oswald whose resignation took effect on April first. Emory H. Dougherty, of Gettysburg, who has been connected with the local plant for the past nine years, will be the local manager. Mr. Dornbach will continue to reside at Auburn but will make frequent trips here. Mr. Dougherty is eminently fitted to handle the work and his appointment will be a satisfactory one.

But little remains to be done at the Gettysburg plant before actual operations are resumed. The repairs on the interior of the building that were regarded as necessary were made during the winter months. One of the boilers needs some attention but, otherwise, the interior equipment is in good shape. The quarry contains thousands of gallons of water, the accumulation of the past five months or more, and it will require some little time to pump this out, and allow the taking out of more shale. Some of the kilns can be used but others need attention and they will be repaired in connection with the regular working of the plant.

All indications point to a successful season. The rough texture brick, the finest product of the plant, will continue to be advanced and placed before the public. A general demand is apparent for this sort of building material and the local product is being shipped to many points. The demand in Gettysburg has been worth while and the company has appreciated the purchases made by town people.

LAMAR SOLD

Bill King Signs up and Frederick is Happy.

The Frederick management, as well as the fans in that town are a happy lot now. Bill King, who last year surprised the whole league by his sensational pitching, has signed a contract for the coming season to play with the Champs. Simultaneously with this announcement came word that Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, of the International League had purchased Bill Lamar, another of Jack Morrison's players. It is understood that the Frederick management received a neat little sum for Lamar, something like $1,000.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Friends Spent the Day at Home in Arendtsville.

H. S. Raffensperger and family, of Arendtsville, entertained the following guests at their home over Sunday, George L. Taylor, Johnstown; Isaac S. Taylor, Altoona; I. L. Taylor and son, Robert, Gettysburg; W. A. Raffensperger, New York City; Mrs. M. K. Sell, Altoona.

noon, the party having a veritable picnic out of the affair. The second part of the trip took in the Round Tops, Devil's Den, Hancock avenue, the National Cemetery, and Culp's Hill, and the drive through town included the principal places of interest. The return to Baltimore will be made this evening on the Western Maryland train leaving here at 5:51. The station and the car were places of special interest after the return of the Sunday party late this afternoon.

The following compose the party who came on the trip, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Gray, Rev. and Mrs. James E. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. William Asher, Miss Frances Miller, Miss Florence Keeney, Miss Alice Miriam Gamlin, Albert Peterson. These personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sunday were also with them, Volney P. Keene, of Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Mel. E. Trotter and Miss Alice Nelson, of Grand Rapids.

FOR BIG REVIVAL HERE IN AUTUMN

Nicholson-Hemmerling Evangelistic Campaigners to be sought to Conduct Series of Meetings here in October.

The first definite step looking toward the big union revival to be held in Gettysburg next October was taken this morning by the Adams County Ministerium which held its monthly meeting at the Presbyterian Manse.

The clergymen, representing the various congregations throughout the county, voted to authorize Rev. F. E. Taylor to communicate with the managers of the Nicholson-Hemmerling evangelistic campaigns to secure their terms and reserve a date pending the final closing of the contract later on.

Both Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Hemmerling are well known here, personally and by reputation. The former is the Rev. William T. Nicholson, of Carlisle, an ordained minister of the Carlisle Presbytery. Raymond Hemmerling was in Gettysburg about ten years ago and conducted the singing at the large and successful revival held at St. James Lutheran church. Since then he has traveled in Australia in evangelistic work, and has been very successful in this country. The county ministers are very anxious to secure the services of both men.

It is understood that a building large enough to accommodate crowds of unusual size will be erected to take care of the town people who are expected to be drawn by the campaign, but all details of the matter were held over to another meeting, pending the selection of a date and the actual signing of a contract with the evangelists.

The meeting of the Ministerium has as its feature, in addition to the transaction of business, a paper read by Rev. D. T. Koser on "The Authenticity of Moses' Authorship of Deuteronomy".

WEDDINGS

Dr. Barkley Marries One Couple Squire Meals Marries Another.

Miss Marie Schlosser, of Arendtsville, and Clarence M. Shindlecker, of Gettysburg, were married Saturday evening at the Reformed parsonage, by Dr. T. J. Barkley. They will reside in Gettysburg where Mr. Shindlecker is employed in one of the furniture factories.

Miss Edith Diehl, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Diehl, of New Oxford, and Monroe Shearer, of Spring Grove, were married at eight o'clock Saturday evening in the United Brethren church, Hanover. They spent Sunday at the bride's home. They will reside at Spring Grove.

Miss Dolly G. Lentz, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Lentz, of near town and John Adams, of Gettysburg, were married by Squire Louis Meals Friday evening.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

District Convention, Mothers' Meeting, and Lecture on the Telephone

The annual convention of the sixth district of the Adams County Sabbath School Association, will be held in the Reformed church, Biglerville, May 24, morning, afternoon and evening.

A mothers' meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. S. Reaser, on Hanover street, Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. All mothers are cordially invited to come and bring their children and needlework.

B. H. Overpeck, local district manager of the Bell Telephone company, will deliver a lecture in Thomas Brothers' Hall, Biglerville, on April 15th. His subject will be, "The Growth of a Modern Utility,— the Telephone." The lecture will be illustrated with motion pictures.

LATE SALE

Same Average as at the Earlier Spring Sales.

A. S. Whistler's sale in Mt. Pleasant township, Saturday, amounted to $1700. The best horse brought $15, a cow $55, shoats $10 each.

BEST clover seed for sale. Lard wanted. Trostle's Store, Arendtsville.—advertisement 1

VERY desirable apartment for rent. Inquire at Times office.—advertisement 1

DEER ARE EATING THE APPLE BUDS

Trees so Badly Damaged that at One Place it is Necessary to Replant Entire Tract. Apparently no Solution Found.

Adams County fruit growers are again raising voices in distress over ravages committed in their orchards by the herds of deer wandering over the hills in the western townships. Damage running into large figures is reported by a number of the fruit growers who say that the deer are eating the buds from the trees, biting off the ends of the branches, and doing very serious harm if not actually killing the trees.

One orchardist told this morning of having set out 265 trees on one tract and finding recently that every one of them had been killed outright. The ends of the tender branches were broken off and told the story of the work of the nimble footed animals. Scarcely a grower in the Orrtanna belt fails to admit some harm has been done and they are all considering ways and means of getting rid of the trouble.

No less than ten deer were seen on a Hamiltonban township farm one day last week. Seven of them were quite tame but the other three leaped a fence and galloped away upon the arrival of several men. Most of the injury to the trees is done at night, when there is no way to protect the orchards and the fruit growers are up against a difficult proposition.

The trouble is not a new one, for last year several of the fruit growers complained to the State and asked what could be done, and whether or not the losers could secure financial consideration for the damage. As the deer cannot be killed out of season, there seemed to be nothing to do but just allow the ravages to continue and no satisfactory solution has been discovered nor has the State given any assurances of help.

GENEROUS CHILDREN

Belgian Appeal Gets Ready Response in the Schools.

The children of the various schools of town were quick to respond to the call for help in the purchase of Belgian flags and a total of $24.63 was secured in this way, divided as follows: High School, $10.22; Meade Building, $7.19; High Street School, $7.22. The report on individual contributions and the sale of the flags elsewhere will be made later.

DIEHLMAN VERY ILL

Now a Patient at Mount Hope. May never Play again.

Larry Diehlman, who for thirty two years has played the "Adeste Fideles" at the grave of his father near Emmittsburg, early on Christmas morning, is now a patient in Mt. Hope Sanitarium near Baltimore, suffering from paralysis and an aggravated nervous condition. His greatest concern seems to be that he will not recover the use of his arm sufficiently to play his favorite instruments, the flute and viola.

HORSE DROPPED DEAD

County Farmer Has Sudden Loss when Fine Horse Dies.

F. F. McDermitt, of Highland township, suffered a heavy financial loss last week. While he was operating the manure spreader on his farm, a large horse, which he had used for the past six years and was prized very highly suddenly fell over dead. The animal had shown no sign of sickness. Mr. McDermitt valued it at $200.

WHITE is right. We are showing every character of the desirable weaves bought during fall and winter, and delivered in March. They'll be scarce later. Gabardines, whip cords, plain and fancy yard-wide piques, Novelty stripes, Beach cloths, Poplins, and every character of sheer weaves. G. W. Weaver and Son.—advertisement 1

FOR short horn, Holstein and Guernsey cows and bulls, and large type Poland China hogs come to Hershey's sale on April 12th.—advertisement 1

KODAK films, everything in Kodak line always fresh. Huber's Drug Store.—advertisement 1

DEATH CLAIMS COUNTY PEOPLE

Mrs. Sneeringer Dies at Bonneauville, Leaving Nine Children. Mrs. Pittenturf Taken by Death.

MRS. FRANK SNEERINGER
Mrs. Frances (Livers) Sneeringer, a widely known resident of the vicinity of Bonneauville, died at her home in that place about six o'clock Saturday evening after an illness of several months. She was aged about 63 years.

Mrs. Sneeringer was born in Buchanan Valley. She leaves her husband, Frank J. Sneeringer, three daughters and six sons, Mrs. Harry Shorb, of near Centennial, this county; Miss Annie Sneeringer, at home; Theresa, a member of the Sisters of Mercy, and now located at Harrisburg; Joseph Sneeringer, of Waynesboro; David Sneeringer, of Buchanan Valley; John Sneeringer, of Seattle, Washington; Frank Sneeringer, of Pittsburgh; Leo Sneeringer, in the employ of the Government at the Philadelphia navy yard; Clarence Sneeringer, at home.

She also leaves two brothers, Joseph I. Livers, of Kansas City, Missouri; and David Livers, of Piedmont, West Virginia. Mrs. Cole, who died some time ago in Buchanan Valley, was a sister.

Funeral at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Bonneauville, at 9:30 Thursday morning, with a grand requiem Mass, conducted by Rev. Fr. Shanahan, Rev. W. F. Boyle, and Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

MRS. DANIEL PITTENTURF
Mrs. Henrietta Pittenturf, for the greater part of her life a resident of Gettysburg, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lillie Hollebaugh, in Washington, D. C., Friday, aged 89 years and 1 month.

She was a daughter of the late Jacob Weikert and was born at the old Weikert homestead near Round Top. She was first married to Lieutenant George Schriver who was killed during the Civil War. She later married Daniel Pittenturf, for many years engaged in the stonecutting business in Gettysburg.

She leaves three brothers and one sister, Emanuel and David Weikert, of near Gettysburg, and George Weikert, Woodsboro, Md., and Mrs. Levi Plank, Gettysburg. Powers Pittenturf, of Gettysburg, is a step-son. Mrs. Hollebaugh, with whom she lived, is the only child living.

Funeral and interment in Washington to-day.

ANOTHER ONE GOES

College Boy Hears Call for Service on European Battlefields.

Ordeen Rockey, a student at Gettysburg college, will leave in a few days for Canada to join the American Ambulance Corps. He expects to sail in the near future and hopes to see service in the Great War.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Philadelphia Asks for Record of Herbert Mathews here.

Chief of Police Smiley has been requested to send to Philadelphia the record of Herbert Mathews in the local courts. Mathews, it seems, is under arrest in that city charged with larceny.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS

Letters for the following remain unclaimed at the Gettysburg post office: J. C. Brady, John N. Hoffman, Virginia Ludridge, Lewis Phillips, Miss Augusta Presco.

COMING EVENTS

Happenings Scheduled for Gettysburg during Coming Weeks.

Apr. 13—Free Lecture. Dr. Edward A. Ross. Brna Chapel.
Apr. 14—Parent Teachers' Meeting. High School Building.
Apr. 15—Concert. College Musical Clubs. Brna Chapel.
Apr. 15—Rural Life Day Observance. Court House.
Apr. 29—Base Ball. Lebanon Valley. Nixon Field.
May 3—"The Drifters." Home Talent. Xavier Hall.
May 4—Base Ball. Bucknell. Nixon Field.

INSURANCE collector and solicitor wanted. Must be thoroughly reliable. Address C. D. Keeny, Carlisle, Pa.—advertisement 1
NOTICE: I will sell a fine lot of Single Combed Ancona hens and baby chicks at C. A. Hershey's sale, April 12th. M. A. Shue.—advertisement 1

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES
Published Daily Except Sunday
Times and News Publishing Company

W. LAVERE HAFER, Secretary and Treasurer.
PHILIP R. BIKLE, President.
PHILIP R. BIKLE, Editor.

Subscription Served by carrier in Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
Mailed outside of Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
RATES: Single copies to non-subscribers, 2 cents.

If you receive THE TIMES by mail you can find the date up to which you are paid on the pink address label on your paper. The date will be changed within ten days after your money is received at The Times Office.

Entered August 15, 1904, at Gettysburg, Pa., as second-class matter, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

BELL PHONE 6-M UNITED PHONE 91-W
Office in Northwest corner of Centre Square, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Our advertising columns are open to all candidates of all parties. Want ads. One cent per word each in section. Two cents a word if guaranteed first page position. Resolutions of respect, poetry and memorials one cent per word.

TO OUR READERS
The Gettysburg Times takes absolutely no part in politics, being neutral on all such matters. Anything that appears in our general news columns, concerning state or national politics, is furnished us by The American Press Association, a concern which gives the same news to Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, or Socialist papers and which is strictly non-partisan.

THE OLD BICYCLE
will work better with
NEW TIRES
A complete new stock is here. All the various Anti-skid treads that the present market affords.
TIRES WE CAN GUARANTEE.
Adams County Hardware Co.

Superb Stoves and Ranges
The best stove on the market at anywhere near our price. The workmanship could not be improved even if you were to pay double the price asked. The meta scientifically distributed, heaviest being at points of greatest wear. For an extra good baker try the
SUPERB I also make a specialty of Roofing and Spouting.
Chester Leas, ORRTANNA, PA.

Farmer's Attention
License No. 68 Class Percheron
BLACK PRINCE
A well formed, sound stallion weighing 1600 pounds, will stand for service at owner's stable, on Route 5, Gettysburg.
TERMS: $8.00 to insure a standing Colt.
GEO. C. OYLER,
United telephone.

(Medical Advertising)
SCHOOL TEACHER
Anemic, Run-down, Nervous—
How She Recovered.

There are so many cases like this right here in Gettysburg that we are publishing this interesting letter with the hope that some of our customers will try Vinol and get the same happy result that Miss Baez did.

Key West, Fla.—"I am a teacher and became anemic, nervous, run-down, no energy or desire to do anything, I could not sleep and had that languid, nervous feeling that made me a burden to myself. I had taken various tonics without benefit. I heard of Vinol and tried it. Soon I had a good appetite, could sleep all night and it built me up so I have the ambition to do any kind of work." Mary L. Baez, Key West, Fla.

The reason Vinol was so successful in this case is because it is a constitutional remedy that goes to the seat of trouble. The peptonate of iron contained in Vinol enriches and revitalizes the blood, while the strengthening, tissue-building properties of the extractives of cods' livers and beef peptonate aid in building up the tired, overworked, run-down system. C. Wm. Beales, Prop. The People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.

FOR SALE
Surrey and Spring Wagon, good as new; two sets of buggy harness; riding saddle and bridle; about one ton of mixed hay; good wheelbarrow.
Three months credit.
I. W. HARNER,
25 Steinwehr Ave.,
Gettysburg, Pa.

I will be in Gettysburg every TUESDAY at Penrose Myers' Jewelry store, to examine eyes and fit glasses.
W. H. DINKLE,
Graduate of Optics.
Roose Office, 29 E. Penrose St., Carlisle, Pa.

Optimistic Thought.
Nothing daunts our intentions when they are just.

VILLA FAILS IN PLEA FOR RECRUITS

Parral is Cold to Mexican Bandit Leader.
U. S. TROOPS ON TRAIL
General Pershing reiterates that Outlaw is Wounded — Anti-American Feeling is Spreading.
El Paso, Tex., April 10.—Reiteration of the report that Francisco Villa is wounded was received in a report from Brigadier General Pershing, commanding the punitive expedition seeking the bandit who made a raid across the international boundary into Columbus, N. M., where he commanded a mass of soldiers of civilians.
General Pershing's report to Major General Funston again asserting Villa is wounded does not reveal the bandit's location.
Colonel George A. Dodd's cavalry reached Parral, the general understanding is. Villa has been reported as having arrived on the outskirts of Parral and sent in emissaries to obtain supplies and to sound sentiment to determine if he could rally the armed forces of that place to his standard. Apparently he failed in this and may have hastened away.
While Colonel W. C. Brown and the Tenth Cavalry was believed to be leading the race to Parral, army headquarters officers have information in eluding them to believe that Colonel Dodd, with his picked detachment of troopers, was the American column to reach that point, which is not far from the border from the states of Chihuahua and Durango.
Anti-American sentiment is spreading in the section Villa is entering. It was shown by the confirmation of the news that the Arrieta brothers, formerly identified with the bandit general have inflicted a $1,000,000 loss on an American concern by burning the big lumber plant of the Compañia Madera in the state of Durango.
Shouting, "Down with the Gringos!" the Arrieta bandits made a raid upon the plant and deliberately applied the torch. Hiram Smith, president of the company owning the plant, received advice telling of the raid.
Villa has been trying to reach this section of Durango, where bands of outlaws, formerly of his command, have been terrorizing the residents. He has sent ahead word to kill all Americans and destroy all American property.
Telegrams from the field hospital at Colonia Dublan, Mexico, said that Lieutenant Colonel Rivers, Thirteenth Cavalry, is ill with pneumonia and that his recovery is doubtful. He is too ill to be brought to the border. Of the entire force now in Mexico, estimated here at 12,000 men, only a little more than 200 have been brought back to the border since the expedition entered Mexico. This is considered by army medical men as a small percentage, considering the hardships undergone by the men and the cold weather they have encountered.

SOLDIER KILLED IN FIGHT
Colored Infantryman, Resisting Arrest, Shot by Ranger.
Del Rio, Tex., April 10.—Private John Wade, of Company C, Twenty-fourth Infantry, a negro regiment, was killed when Sheriff Almond attempted to arrest sixteen negro soldiers who had created a disturbance in a house in the restricted district.
Three negroes are said to have attacked the officers while the latter were taking them to jail. Wade jumped on Ranger Barber, according to stories told by witnesses, pressed him to the ground, and clubbed him on the head with the butt of his revolver. Lying on his back, Barber drew his pistol and fired over his shoulder. Wade was killed.
Boy Kills Self; Cause a Mystery.
Altoona, Pa., April 10.—Wilber E. Mashman, aged sixteen, committed suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun. Coroner W. T. Blackburn was unable to find any cause for the act. The boy was the adopted son of W. H. Botticher. He was away from home all day and when he came back last night his foster mother wanted to get him supper. "Wait a minute," he said, and hastened upstairs and killed himself.
Flood in Minneapolis.
St. Paul, Minn., April 10.—With the breaking of an ice jam behind which was 1,000,000 feet of logs at Elkriver, thirty-five miles north of here, a six-foot wall of water was released, which reached Minneapolis shortly after midnight. Four hundred persons were rescued from the fate in Minneapolis by the police.
Maxim Gorky Seriously Ill.
London, April 10.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says that reports reaching Holland through Berlin are to the effect that Maxim Gorky, the Russian author, is suffering from pneumonia at Moscow. His condition is declared to be alarming.
Man Killed Under Wagon.
Marietta, Pa., April 10.—Albert Dulvaney, fifty years old, of Liberty Square, was killed when he fell beneath the wheels of a wagon.
Helps Materially.
"Does material success make life successful?" asks the uplifter. Well, it helps materially.

JAMES PARKER.
Brigadier General Commanding
U. S. First Cavalry Brigade.

Photo by American Press Association

PENKNIFE USED IN FIGHT ENDS A LIFE
Engineer Accused of Killing His Fireman.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 10.—Nicholas Duryea, engineer of the Hotel Overbrook, when that structure was destroyed by fire a few months ago, is under arrest here on a charge of murder, his alleged victim being Vernon Lewis.
Duryea, who is engineer at the Grand Atlantic hotel, on South Virginia avenue, ordered Lewis, who was a fireman there, to remove some ashes that had been left in an area by the night engineer, Howard Pfeister.
"I won't remove some one else's ashes," Lewis replied. "If you want them removed, do the job yourself."
Duryea is said to have gone on with his work, but witnesses say that the fireman was in a belligerent mood and kept following Duryea around mumbling about the ashes. The engineer told him to go about his business and stop growling. Lewis persisted, however, and finally when Duryea's back was turned jumped on him and, throwing him to the ground, was in the act of choking him when the engineer, it is declared, drew a penknife from his pocket and stabbed him just above the heart.
STUDENTS AS SOLDIERS
State College Awards Scholarships for Plattsburg.
State College, Pa., April 10.—Military scholarships for the army training camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., have been awarded to twenty-one students of State College.
Financial aid will be given by the Military Training Association committee, of Philadelphia.
The cost to each student would be $32.50, a third of which purchases the uniform, the remainder paying for five weeks' board.
All Penn state students who have enrolled for the encampment have had military experience in the cadet regiment connected with the department of military science, in charge of Lieutenant A. E. Ahrends, of the Twentieth United States Infantry. The students' summer work will afford practice in advanced training, and will enable them to fill ranks of company and battalion commanders.

DRINKS HAIR TONIC
Wife's Solicitude for Man's Bald Head Has Disastrous Results.
Frederick, Md., April 10.—Hair tonic, the gift-edged kind, that grows hair on bald heads, and which was solicitedly purchased by his wife to restore his hair, came within an ace of causing the death of John Manning, of Weverton, who took a large swig of it, believing it was whiskey.
Manning was found writhing in pain, on the floor of his room by members of the family. A nearby empty bottle of hair tonic beside him caused the wife to hurry for a physician. On regaining consciousness, Manning explained that he had placed a flask of whiskey on the dresser before retiring and had picked up the hair tonic in the morning, thinking that it was the liquor. He will recover.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE
Observations of United States weather bureaus taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

Temp.	Weather.
Atlantic City...	42 P. Cloudy.
Boston...	34 Snow.
Buffalo...	36 Clear.
Chicago...	36 Clear.
New Orleans...	56 Clear.
New York...	40 Clear.
Philadelphia...	42 Clear.
St. Louis...	48 P. Cloudy.
Washington...	42 Clear.

The Weather.
Fair today and tomorrow; slowly rising temperature; variable winds.

Fated.
Mrs. Outlate—"What became of the cuckoo clock?" Outlate—"The cat ate it."

Blessed Man.
Blessed is the man and beloved of all the gods who is afraid of no man, and of whom no man is afraid.—Vedas.

FRENCH TAKE GERMAN TRENCH
Storm Foe's Positions Near Douaumont.
HAND TO HAND FIGHTING

Teuton Grenade Attacks in Caillotte Wood Repulsed and Surprise Attack in Lorraine Fails.
Paris, April 10.—Winning a victory over the troops of the crown prince east of the Meuse on the Verdun front, French regiments have stormed German trenches near the village of Douaumont, besides repulsing two attacks made by the Germans in the Caillotte wood sector.
The battle marks the renewal of fighting on the east bank of the Meuse, the French having taken the aggressive after holding their positions on the Bethincourt-Avocourt line west of the river against the desperate assaults made Friday by the Germans.
Because of the strong French defence there has been a lull in the fighting on the Bethincourt-Avocourt sector, and official advices mention only intermittent artillery duels there. The most recent fighting was confined entirely to the Vaux-Douaumont sector, which has been the scene of intermittent savage encounters ever since the campaign against Verdun began weeks ago. The French made their main attack southwest of Douaumont village and stormed German trench positions for nearly an eighth of a mile. To the south of the village progress was made in attacks directed against communicating trenches of the Germans.
The assaults made by the crown prince were directed against the French positions in the northern section of the Caillotte wood. Here the French have been launching frequent attacks to thrust the Germans out of trenches they occupied several days ago. Both German attacks on the wood announced were made with hand grenades, and each was signally repulsed.
A surprise attack made by German infantry in Lorraine against French trench positions in the region of Embemennil met with complete failure.
The text of the statement issued by the French war office is as follows:
"West of the Meuse there was feeble activity by the artillery during the night.
"East of the Meuse we have made some progress in communicating trenches south of Douaumont village and we have taken to the southwest of the village about 150 metres of an enemy trench.
"Two hand grenade attacks by the Germans against our positions in the Caillotte wood were repulsed.
"In the Woivre the night was relatively calm.
"In Lorraine a surprise attack by the enemy against one of our works in the region of Embemennil completely failed with some losses to the enemy.
"There was no event of importance on the rest of the front."

GERMAN LINE IN PERIL
Russ. Destroy Block House in Dvinsk Region and Damage Trenches.
London, April 10.—Artillery actions feature in the struggle being waged by the Russians against the Germans, especially along the Dvinsk front and in the Dvinsk region, according to the official statement issued by the Russian war office.
In the Dvinsk region the Russians exploded four mines, which destroyed a German block house, besides a line of trenches.
In defending themselves against the Russian attacks in the regions near Postavy and lakes Narocz and Miadziol, the Germans are reported to have used shells containing poisonous gas.
The situation of the Germans is regarded here as serious owing to their distance from their base of supplies. The German line from the Gulf of Riga to Volhynia is difficult to defend.
Belgian King's Birthday.
Havre, April 10.—The birthday of King Albert of Belgium was officially celebrated here yesterday by an imposing manifestation at the Belgian ministry of war. The ceremony was attended by all the members of the Belgian cabinet and the foreign diplomats accredited to Belgium.
Woman Drowns in Cistern.
Souderton, Pa., April 10.—In a fit of despondency Mrs. Henry Hartzell, wife of a local cigar manufacturer, jumped in a cistern at her home here and committed suicide. She was about sixty years old, and is the mother of a family.
Big Fund to Insure Workers.
Harrisburg, Pa., April 10.—The number of policies written in the State Workmen's Insurance fund has passed the $11,000 mark. State officials estimate that the revenue brought in will run about $750,000.

Animals Burn in Barn.
Codorous, Pa., April 10.—A large barn was destroyed by fire on the farm of Robert Fickes. Sparks from an engine are supposed to have started the blaze. A cow and four pigs burned.
His First Day Off in Thirty Years.
Milton, Pa., April 10.—G. R. Sander, yardmaster for the Reading railway took his first day off in thirty years and attended the funeral of his brother, Frank Sander, at Winfield. He has never been sick a day.
In Advance of His Time.
"Look here, you said you'd have my car ready last night." "Well, what are you coming around tonight for?" Judge.

GENERAL CADORNA
Italian Commander Thinks Verdun is Impregnable.

Photo by American Press Association.

SERUM TO REVIVE DROWNED PERSONS
Scientists Hope to Perfect a Remedy.

Baltimore, Md., April 10.—A reprieve in medical science which, if successful, will revolutionize the treatment of persons apparently dead from drowning or asphyxiation, is being experimented with at the Johns Hopkins hospital.
The new treatment will be the injection of serum to so stimulate the blood that there will be a reaction on the heart. This will keep the patients alive until the apparatus perfected some time ago to clear the lungs can be put into use.
The serum has been tried on animals in the laboratories of the institution, and in a number of cases has proved successful. However, in most of the cases there have been after effects such as high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries.
According to the physicians, if the serum can be perfected, and there is every assurance at this time that it will be perfected, the serum can be injected in the patient several hours after the accident, and he will be revived. In treating one animal the serum was injected four hours after the drowning took place and the animal was brought back to life, but it died later of a high blood pressure.
U-BOATS SINK THREE SHIPS
Ninety-two Saved, Nine Killed, When Chantala is Torpedoed.
London, April 10.—Three more vessels were sunk, nine lives lost and another ship badly damaged by German submarines.
The vessels sunk were the British steamships Chantala, Avon and the Adamton, while the Danish steamship Asger Ryg is drifting in a helpless condition to the south of the Isle of Wight.
The casualties occurred when the Chantala, of 4949 tons, was attacked without warning, one engineer and eight Lascar members of the crew being killed, while ninety-two survivors were rescued and landed at Malta. The vessel was en route from London for Calcutta and was torpedoed in the Mediterranean near Malta.
WOODTICKS KILL AN ELK
Suck Its Blood and Menace Forest County Live Stock.
Kane, Pa., April 10.—Farmers in Forest County are worried over the finding of a dead elk, one of twenty liberated recently by the state in that county.
An examination of the body showed it was covered with woodticks, which had sucked its blood, causing death. The farmers have taken a serious view of the matter, as they fear their cattle may become covered with ticks.

Twenty Years for Killing.
Media, Pa., April 10.—Henry Wilkins, the only man who ever pleaded guilty in Delaware county to murder, was sentenced to twenty years in the Eastern penitentiary by Judge John son, who heard the evidence and found that Wilkins was guilty of second degree murder. Wilkins pleaded guilty to shooting Novella Cannon in Br. Mawr, last December.
Toledo Car Strike Ends.
Toledo, O., April 10.—The Toledo street car strike has ended. The men were given an increase in wages of three cents an hour, but they will not be permitted to wear union buttons and the open shop rule will prevail.
Measles Most Prevalent.
Harrisburg, Pa., April 10.—Hundreds of cases of measles, probably more than have been known for years, are being reported to the state health authorities from cities and boroughs.
Poincare's Son-in-Law Captive.
Berlin, April 10.—The Tagliche Rundschau publishes a report that the son-in-law of President Poincare, of France, is a prisoner of war at Erdag, near Munich.

PERSONAL NOTES AND BRIEF ITEMS

Short Paragraphs of Personal News, Telling of Guests in Town Homes and those Visiting out of Town.
Mrs. J. Murray Smiley and two children, of Chambersburg, were the guests of relatives in town on Sunday.
Miss Annie Swartz has returned to Reading after spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Swartz, Baltimore street.
Lester Stallsmith, of Philadelphia, was a guest on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Stallsmith, East Middle street.
Miss Margaret Bream has returned to Jenkintown after spending the spring recess at her home on Seminary Ridge.
Misses Mamie and Margaret Auman, of Baltimore, were visitors on Sunday at the home of James Auman, West Middle street. Miss Helen Auman has returned home after a visit of several weeks in Baltimore.
Miss Margaret W. Kerr, of Chambersburg street, was elected one of the vice presidents at the convention of the Missionary Society of the Carlisle Presbytery held in Waynesboro last week.
Edgar F. Stallsmith, son of Mrs. Annie Wilson, Chambersburg street, has been appointed department auditor by Mayor Davis, of Cleveland, Ohio.
LOCAL STUDENT WON
Captured Prize in Oratorical Contest with Other Colleges.
Robert S. Miller, a Gettysburg student, won the first prize of $25 offered in the prohibition oratorical contest in Brua Chapel Saturday evening. Crist L. Martin, of Franklin and Marshall won the second prize of $10. Mr. Miller will go to Indianapolis in June to participate at the Eastern Inter-State contest.
The Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association before adjourning its sessions selected State College for the 1917 convention and elected these officers: president, George W. Weber, State College; secretary, Paul Hayes, Franklin and Marshall; treasurer, S. D. Whiting, State College; and reporter, David E. Maxwell, Gettysburg. Mr. Weber and Mr. Hayes were elected delegates to the coming national convention at Columbus, Ohio; and Mr. Whiting and Mr. Maxwell as alternates.
A Story of Daniel O'Connell.
The great Daniel O'Connell was about to be re-elected a member of the house of commons. The vote was public. The landlords used all their influence to prevent the re-election of Daniel O'Connell. They threatened up to the time of the vote to evict the poor Irish tenants. It meant misery and ruin for them and for their families. A young Irishman on the stand weakened at the moment he was about to vote, before the threats of his landlord. But his mother was there. She called to him. "Oh, John, remember your soul!" And the son, reassured by the courageous appeal of his mother, cried before the throng, "I vote for Daniel O'Connell!" His example was followed, and the election of Daniel O'Connell was a veritable triumph. Letter in New York Times.
Stevenson's Last Chapter.
Robert Louis Stevenson died at Samoa, stricken suddenly down in a day of great heat. He wrote hard all that morning of the last day (Dec. 3, 1894). His half finished book, "Hermiston," he judged the best he had ever written, and the sense of successful effort made him buoyant and happy as nothing else could. "At sunset he came downstairs," says his cousin and biographer, Graham Balfour. "He rallied his wife about the forebodings she could not shake off, talked of a lecture tour to America that he was eager to make, 'as he was now so well,' and played a game at cards with her to drive away her melancholy." He died at 8:10 in the evening of that day in the forty-fifth year of his age.
Another Cause For Joy.
A young woman living in a village near Columbus became engaged recently to a young man. The girl's name for the sake of this tale shall be Jones and that of the young man Jackson. She called at the home of a young man friend to break the news.

PAPER FAMINE IS NOW FEARED

Old Rags Assume Tremendous Value as Raw Material.

WAR ALSO CUTS OFF DYE.

Paper Manufacturers Forced to Compete With Manufacturers of Powder, as Same Articles Are Used in Both. Public is Forced to Pay—No More Contracts Made.

"Rags for paper, not for powder." This is the slogan of the paper manufacturers of the United States, who are facing today the most serious situation that ever has confronted the industry in the country, a situation that is daily becoming more and more acute.

The great war has served to cut off imports from Europe of rags, which are essential in the manufacture of the best grades of paper. For years the United States has depended on Europe for a large proportion of the rags which go into the manufacture of paper in this country.

This already serious situation is made all the more serious by the action of the powder manufacturers in buying up all the available supplies of rags in this country for use in making powder to fill the munition contract for the belligerent powers. It has been found that rags are practically as good for the manufacture of powder as raw cotton and cost much less. The powder manufacturers are buying up rag at prices which are prohibitive from the standpoint of the manufacturer of paper.

Shortage of Wood Pulp. But the rag shortage is not the only one which is confronting the paper manufacturers. There also is a serious shortage in the supply of wood pulp used in making the cheaper grades of paper and a more serious one in chemicals which are essential in paper manufacture. The same chemicals which are used as bleaching agents are also employed in making the gases used in the deadly gas bombs being employed in the great war. Shipments of dye-stuffs have been cut off, and the shortage which has resulted has advanced the price for some material which formerly sold for about 20 cents a pound to as high as $40.

The shortage of raw and chemicals has so crippled the paper industry that no manufacturers are entering into contracts for supplying paper and are only accepting orders with the understanding that they may never be able to fill them. Prices for all kinds of paper are climbing by leaps and bounds daily, and there is no telling when the advances will stop.

Waste of Rags Serious. The prevention of waste on the part of the general public will do much to relieve the situation, it is stated. This is especially true in the case of the waste of materials which go into the manufacture of paper, particularly rags.

Recently a Washington dealer tried to fill an order for about a carload of paper to be used for printing tax bills and receipts for the state of West Virginia. The order must be filled by May 15, for the forms are to be used for this year's tax collections. He reports that not one manufacturer in the country will guarantee delivery on such an order. The best promise of delivery which he has received so far is Aug. 15. On an order for 100,000 pounds of paper, which formerly sold over the counter at about $3.75 per 100 pounds, the best figure he could get was $7.50 per 100 pounds and the date of delivery not guaranteed. The dealer said that the sweepings from the cutters in his establishment are bringing about 50 cents a pound.

He explained that in the manufacture of the cheaper grades of paper from wood pulp three processes are employed. In one the wood is ground between rollers and all the impurities and defective spots it contains serve to impair the value of the pulp thus made. Better grades of wood pulp are made by means of a sulphite process and a soda ash process. Both of these processes require chemicals that have advanced greatly in price as the result of the shortage caused by the war. In normal times soda ash sold for 6 cents per 100 pounds. Today it is selling for $1.50 per 100 pounds. Sulphite that sold for $2.50 per 100 pounds a short time ago now is bringing $8 for such a quantity.

Paper manufacturers are making no contracts and are receiving orders only under the following conditions:

That the paper will be shipped when sufficient raw material to supply the order has been received.

That no guarantee or promise of date of delivery will be made.

That when the order is finally shipped the price for the paper will be at the prevailing figure at the time of such shipment.

The few orders that are being filled by the manufacturers are being cut just in half. If a paper dealer orders 10,000 pounds of paper he cannot possibly expect to get more than 5,000 pounds delivered.

Song of the Army Mew!

He couldn't tote with the motor lorry.
He couldn't fight with the army truck.
And for a time it seemed, heorry,
The army mewel was out o' luck.
The army mewel:
What needs no fuel—
Oh, wasn't it cruel?
Was out o' luck.

He couldn't drag the fifteen inches
Or fly or manage a submarine.
But he's right there with his in the pinches.
And he don't need no gasoline
The army mewel:
He ain't no fool—
And, as a rule,
Hates gas-o-line.

When Uncle Sam hits plain or mountain
Or desert that roods the wide world
And there's no water nor petrol fountain
The mewel he totes the grub and guns.
The army mewel:
The precious jewel
And useful tool—
He totes the guns.
—Chicago News

SEVEN VOCATIONS TO WHICH LIFE INSURANCE IS REFUSED

Actresses Too Temperamental, While Salesmen Are Best Risks.

Your life is not worth a dime, not even a battered old nickel, according to insurance companies, if you are listed among the "fatal seven," which consist of steepjackers, aviators, soldiers, dynamite employees, jockeys, auto racers and grooms who ride to bounds.

Insurance companies keep a closer tab on deaths than anybody else in the world. Deaths cost them money, and to reduce the risks they have figured things out on a percentage basis.

They will not insure persons in some walks of life. They will take a chance on a soldier in time of peace, but a "rider" in his policy makes it void during war. The other chaps in the "fatal seven" they won't insure at all.

There are other "undesirables"—sailors, prison guards, bridge builders, ironworkers, players in the movies. Insurance companies charge high rates when insuring any persons in these occupations.

Actresses are too temperamental for traveling, and they have to travel, according to the risk firms. Distillery workers pay $20 per $1,000 for policies. Doctors are not held good risks—too liable to accidents.

Best risks are commercial travelers, because they're so familiar with the perils of travel they seldom get hurt. Only 10 per cent of their accident policies are collected.

Schoolteachers also are good risks.

SAFETY FOR ENGINE FIREMEN

New Device Is Designed to Prevent Death Plunge.

A common form of railroad accident is that which often takes place when, by some accident to the coupling between them, the tender and the locomotive become separated. In such cases the air brakes are automatically applied and the runaway train brought to a stop. But if the fireman is at his post on the tender the sudden application of the brakes is sufficient to throw him off his feet, and he is hurled headlong under the wheels of his own train, which has not yet been brought to a complete standstill.

Matthew J. Slattery and Charles A. Diehm, two railroad men of Philadelphia, have been recently awarded a patent on a device which is designed to save the fireman's life in this emergency. The apparatus consists of a metal net, carried beneath the floor of the tender, which in case of a parting between the locomotive and tender will be released and drawn forward to provide a safety net to catch any one who may be standing on the tender at the time of the accident.

New Calculating Device.

Designed to meet the requirements of bookkeepers and clerical workers, a comparatively inexpensive rapid calculating device has been introduced, which is capable of adding, subtracting and multiplying quickly and accurately. The instrument is about ten and one-half inches long, two and one-quarter inches wide and half an inch thick. It is provided with a series of seven dials, which are revolved by a stylus when making calculations. A single turn of one of the wheels adds a figure to a previous register and simultaneously shows a total. The device may be used on a ledger page and moved downward as the work proceeds.

Wesley's Father and Wesley.

One cleric well known to fame who took snuff and loved his pipe was Samuel Wesley, rector of Epworth, Lincolnshire, from 1697 to 1753. He not only smoked his pipe, but sang his praises:

In these raw mornings, when I'm freezing
What can compare with a tobacco pipe?
Primed, cocked and touched, 'twould better
Heat a man
Than the Bath fagots or Scotch warming pan.

Samuel's greater son John Wesley, did not share the parental love of a pipe. He spoke of the use of tobacco as "an uncleanly and unwholesome self-indulgence" and described snuffing as a "silly, nasty, dirty custom."—Westminster Gazette.

RECORD ACTIVITY IN SHIPBUILDING

Orders For 250 Vessels Being Executed In Our Shipyards.

FEW FOR FOREIGN TRADING

Most of the Ships Under Construction
Will Be Used In Adjacent Waters or
By Private Firms—All European Countries Active, Too, In Spite of the War That Rages.

American shipyards have today under construction or contracted for approximately 250 vessels of all classes, with about a million tons displacement. These figures indicate the greatest activity in the American shipbuilding industry, the largest number of vessels and the greatest tonnage ever under construction at one time during the last fifteen years.

Orders for twenty ships having a displacement of over 60,000 tons were placed in February. In that month six ships, with a gross tonnage of 31,329, were delivered by the shipyards.

While these figures would seem to foretell the return of the American flag to its former pre-eminence upon the seas, as in the days when the American clipper poked her nose into every port in the world, analysis does not bear out this deduction.

Competition Not Considered.

Detailed reports concerning the vessels that are being built in the thirty-two shipbuilding plants in the United States, including the great lakes yards, do not reveal that the American overseas merchant fleet will be either greatly enlarged or that United States shipping interests are seriously contemplating competing with foreign lines for the ocean carrying trade.

The number of ships over 3,000 tons under construction is 122. Of these sixteen are 3,000 to 4,000 tons, ten are 4,000 to 5,000 tons, forty-seven are 5,000 to 7,000 tons, thirty-three are 7,000 to 10,000 tons, and sixteen are 10,000 tons and over.

While these figures would seem to indicate a considerable addition to the ocean carrying tonnage of American registry, they do not tell the real story unless taken in conjunction with detailed reports on construction made by various shipbuilding plants. There is no distinction, for instance, in the above figures between vessels that will ply on the great lakes, those for the coastwise trade and those destined for overseas service.

It is perfectly apparent from an analysis of detailed reports that less than 10 per cent of the vessels now building in American yards are destined for the overseas trade and that the majority of those that will enter the trans-oceanic trade are oil ships.

The following figures show the distribution of tonnage under construction:

Districts	Number	Gross tons
Delaware river, etc.	85	29,325
Chesapeake bay, etc.	42	22,496
Pacific coast	31	173,178
Great lakes and rivers	64	142,163
New England	19	68,623
Others	8	4,571
Total	239	501,371

The shipbuilding activity is not confined to the United States. Even though there is war in Europe, the shipyards of the European countries are quite as active as those in the United States, and their operations are not confined to the building of naval vessels.

Great Britain Busy.

For the year 1915-16 it is stated that 1,506,925 tons were under construction in the United Kingdom. The yards of Denmark are fully employed for two or three years. In France the yards are almost wholly engaged in naval work. The Netherlands plants are filled with orders up to 1917-18. Japan is busy with naval and merchant work, and in Norway the yards are so full that owners are sending work to the United States. Only in Italy is there depression in the shipbuilding industry because of the shortage of coal.

The French government, however, has a project in hand for increasing the French merchant marine by providing for government loans to shipbuilding enterprises. A bill has already been presented authorizing the expenditure by the government of $19,300,000 during the war and during the first twelve months after the signing of the treaty of peace.

TO PROVIDE BIRDS WITH FOOD

Ten Thousand Black Cherry Trees to Be Planted in Pennsylvania.

Nearly 10,000 seedling black cherry trees are to be planted this year under the auspices of the state forestry department as part of the general plan to provide food for insect killing birds in the wooded portions of Pennsylvania. The use of cherry trees has been adopted instead of planting grapevines, which were set out on experimental tracts in state reserves last year, and it is expected that the trees will furnish both timber and food.

GUARDED TWENTY BILLIONS.

Clerk at Treasurer's Office Has Seen
Great Increase In Finances.

Major Alfred R. Quaffie, civil war veteran and a Libby prison survivor, for fifty years an employee of the office of the treasurer of the United States and for thirty-one years the custodian of the vaults of the treasury, has recently celebrated his eightieth birthday. The position of vault clerk was created especially for Major Quaffie, and he took the post Oct. 20, 1885, at a salary of $2,500.

In the thirty years he has served there has passed through the vaults something like $20,000,000,000. The average value of the money handled every year has increased from $166,000,000 when he took charge in 1885, to $241,000,000 in 1895, $637,000,000 in 1905 and about $1,000,000,000 for the last five years. The daily balance of cash on hand is pretty steady at $167,000,000.

GREAT COST OF THE WAR.

Europe Spending $25,000,000,000 a Year
Mexican Invasion Cheap.

It is costing Europe $25,000,000,000 a year to carry on the war, according to figures in the April letter of the National City bank of New York. Uncle Sam's expedition into Mexico is costing $50 a minute—one nine-hundred-and-fifty-second of the European cost.

The annual rate of expenditure of the big fighting powers is divided as follows:
Great Britain, $5,000,000,000.
Germany, $5,000,000,000.
Russia, $5,000,000,000.
France, $4,000,000,000.

The remainder is made up by Italy, Serbia, Bulgaria and other warring nations.

Mixed.

"That is Mr. Jiggs of our operating department," explained the railroad man.

"Oh, the mean old thing!" exclaimed the sweet young thing. "He told me he was a railroad man, and I suspected all along that he was a doctor."—Buffalo Express.

Domestic Efficiency.

"Does your wife scold when you get home late?"

"No. She dictates to a phonograph and lets me have it the next day when I'm wide awake."—Life.

Power of Tears.

"It's better to laugh than to cry," said the young girl brightly.

"Not if you're trying to manage a husband," said the woman.—London Telegraph.

WALTER'S THEATRE

APRIL 12 WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY APRIL 13

MOTHERS! FATHERS! IT IS YOUR DUTY TO SEE AND HAVE YOUR SONS AND DAUGHTERS SEE

THE GREAT STUPENDOUS SPECTACLE

"THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE"

A CALL TO ARMS AGAINST WAR

YOU HAVE HEARD THE QUESTION ASKED DAILY

"Is the Invasion of America Possible?"

THIS QUESTION CONCERNING YOU AS WELL AS EVERY OTHER AMERICAN IN THE UNITED STATES

IT IS NOT A MATTER CONCERNING WAR A CENTURY AGO, BUT IT IS THE

MOST VITAL QUESTION OF TODAY

A GRIPPING HUMAN STORY OF LOVE AND AMERICA'S UNPREPAREDNESS FOR WAR, PRONOUNCED BY THE NATION'S FOREMOST MILITARY, SCIENTIFIC AND CLERICAL MINDS AS THE CAMERA'S MASTERPIECE OF THE AGE.

SEE THE BOMBARDMENT OF NEW YORK CITY
THE INVADING HORDE
WALL STREET IN FLAMES
THE VIVID BATTLE SCENES

Tale of Love and War and marvelous and thrilling in the astounding panoramic view of NEW YORK IN RUINS. The play that will grip the heart and brain of every man, woman and child with a drop of red blood in their veins.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE
GETTYSBURG IN FLAMES

Your Fathers, Husbands, Mothers, Wives, Brothers, Sweethearts, innocent and helpless children the targets of the shot and shell of an invading enemy? SEE IT.

SEE SUBMARINE TORPEDO ATTACKS
THE THRILLING CAVALRY CHARGES
THE AEROPLANE RAID
THE GREAT NAVAL BATTLE

Statesmen are divided. Some say "Yes"—others "No." Can you discuss it INTELLIGENTLY? Do you think we are prepared to resist

AN INVADING ENEMY?

Do you want to share the opinions and knowledge of famous men? Do you enjoy remarkable film plays?

CHAS. RICHMAN

and a distinguished
Vitagraph Cast

25,000

SOLDIERS

800

MEMBERS OF THE G. A. R.

5,000

HORSES

8,000

SUPERNUMERARIES

17

AEROPLANES

BATTLESHIPS, SUBMARINES
GIANT ARTILLERY, MACHINE GUNS, EACH CONTRIBUTING TOWARD MAKING THIS THE

Greatest of all
PHOTO SPECTACLES

SPECIAL MUSICAL PROGRAM BY ENTIRE COLLEGE ORCHESTRA.

The TURMOIL

NOVEL
BOOTH TARKINGTON
AUTHOR OF
"MONSIEUR BEAUCAIRE"
"THE CONQUEST OF CANAAN"
"PENROD" ETC.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Sheridan's attempt to make a business man of his son Bibbs by sending him to the machine shop ends in Bibbs going to a sanitarium, a nervous wreck.

CHAPTER II—On his return Bibbs is met at the station by his sister Edith.

CHAPTER III—He finds himself an inconsiderate and unconsidered figure in the "New House" of the Sheridans. He sees Mary Vertrees looking at him from a summer house next door.

CHAPTER IV—The Vertreeses, old town family and impoverished, call on the Sheridans, newly-rich, and afterward discuss them. Mary puts into words her parents' unspoken wish that she marry one of the Sheridan boys.

CHAPTER V—At the Sheridan house—warning banquet Sheridan spreads himself. Mary frankly encourages Jim Sheridan's attention, and Bibbs hears he is to be sent back to the machine shop.

CHAPTER VI—Mary tells her mother about the banquet and shocks her mother by talking of Jim as a matrimonial prospect.

CHAPTER VII—Sheridan tells Bibbs he must go back to the machine shop as soon as he is strong enough, in spite of Bibbs' plea to be allowed to write.

CHAPTER VIII—Edith and Bibbs, Roscoe Sheridan's wife, quarrel over Bobby Lamborn, Sybil goes to Mary for help to keep Lamborn from marrying Edith, and Mary leaves her in the room alone.

CHAPTER IX—Bibbs has to break to his father the news of Jim's sudden death.

CHAPTER X—All the rest of the family help in their grief, Bibbs becomes temporary master of the house. At the funeral he meets Mary and rides home with her.

CHAPTER XIII.

The outward usualness of things continued after dinner. In the library, while his wife sat in her customary chair, gazing at the fire, Sheridan let the unfolded evening paper rest upon his lap, though now and then he lifted it, as if to read. Bibbs came in noiselessly and sat in a corner, doing nothing; and from a "reception room" across the hall an indistinct vocal murmur became just audible at intervals. Once, when this murmur grew louder, under stress of some irrepressible merriment, Edith's voice could be heard—"Bobby, aren't you awful!" and Sheridan glanced across at his wife appealingly.

She rose at once and went into the "reception room"; there was a flurry of whispering, and the sound of tiptoeing in the hall—Edith and her sister changing quarters to a more distant room. Mrs. Sheridan returned to her chair in the library.

"They won't bother you any more, papa," she said, in a comforting voice. "She told me at lunch he'd phoned he wanted to come up this evening, and I said I thought he'd better wait a few days, but she said she'd already told him he could." She paused, then added, rather guiltily: "I got kind of a notion maybe Roscoe don't like him as much as he used to. Maybe—maybe you better ask Roscoe, papa." And as Sheridan nodded solemnly, she concluded, in haste: "Don't say I said to. I might be wrong about it, anyway."

He nodded again, and they sat for some time in a silence which Mrs. Sheridan broke with a little sniff, having fallen into a reverie that brought tears. "That Miss Vertrees was a good girl," she said. "She was all right."

Her husband evidently had no difficulty in following her train of thought, for he nodded once more, affirmatively.

"Did you— How did you fix it about the—the Realty company?" she faltered. "Did you—"

He rose heavily, helping himself to his feet by the arms of his chair. "I fixed it," he said, in a husky voice. He went to her, put his hand upon her shoulder, and drew a long, audible, tremendous breath. "It's my bedtime, mamma; I'm going up." When he reached the door he stopped and spoke again, without turning to look at her. "The Realty company'll go right on just the same," he said. "It's like— it's like sand, mamma. It puts me in mind of children playing in a sand-pile. One of 'em sticks his finger in the sand-pile and makes a hole, and another of 'em 'll pat the place with his hand, and all the little grains of sand run in and fill it up and settle against one another; and then, right away it's flat on top again, and you can't tell there ever was a hole there. The Realty company 'll go on all right, mamma. There ain't anything anywhere. I reckon that wouldn't go right on—just the same."

And he passed out slowly into the hall; then they heard his heavy tread upon the stairs.

Mrs. Sheridan, rising to follow him, turned a piteous face to her son. "It's so forlorn," she said, chokingly. "That's the first time he spoke since he came in the house this evening. I know it must 'a' hurt him to hear Edith laughing with that Lamborn. She'd oughtn't to let him come, right the very first evening this way; she'd oughtn't to do it!" She just seems to lose her head over him, and it scares me. You heard what Sybil said the other day, and—and you heard what—what—"

"What Edith said to Sybil?" Bibbs finished the sentence for her.

"We can't have any trouble of that kind," she said. "Oh, it looks as if you're up to this new house had brought a new awful lot of trouble. It scares me!"

me!" She put both her hands over her face. "Oh, Bibbs, Bibbs! If you only wasn't so queer! If you could only been a kind of dependable son! I don't know what we're all comin' to!" And, weeping, she followed her husband.

Bibbs gazed for a while at the fire; then he rose abruptly, like a man who has come to a decision, and briskly

CHAPTER III—He finds himself an inconsiderate and unconsidered figure in the "New House" of the Sheridans. He sees Mary Vertrees looking at him from a summer house next door.

CHAPTER IV—The Vertreeses, old town family and impoverished, call on the Sheridans, newly-rich, and afterward discuss them. Mary puts into words her parents' unspoken wish that she marry one of the Sheridan boys.

CHAPTER V—At the Sheridan house—warning banquet Sheridan spreads himself. Mary frankly encourages Jim Sheridan's attention, and Bibbs hears he is to be sent back to the machine shop.

CHAPTER VI—Mary tells her mother about the banquet and shocks her mother by talking of Jim as a matrimonial prospect.

CHAPTER VII—Sheridan tells Bibbs he must go back to the machine shop as soon as he is strong enough, in spite of Bibbs' plea to be allowed to write.

CHAPTER VIII—Edith and Bibbs, Roscoe Sheridan's wife, quarrel over Bobby Lamborn, Sybil goes to Mary for help to keep Lamborn from marrying Edith, and Mary leaves her in the room alone.

CHAPTER IX—Bibbs has to break to his father the news of Jim's sudden death.

CHAPTER X—All the rest of the family help in their grief, Bibbs becomes temporary master of the house. At the funeral he meets Mary and rides home with her.

CHAPTER XIII.

The outward usualness of things continued after dinner. In the library, while his wife sat in her customary chair, gazing at the fire, Sheridan let the unfolded evening paper rest upon his lap, though now and then he lifted it, as if to read. Bibbs came in noiselessly and sat in a corner, doing nothing; and from a "reception room" across the hall an indistinct vocal murmur became just audible at intervals. Once, when this murmur grew louder, under stress of some irrepressible merriment, Edith's voice could be heard—"Bobby, aren't you awful!" and Sheridan glanced across at his wife appealingly.

She rose at once and went into the "reception room"; there was a flurry of whispering, and the sound of tiptoeing in the hall—Edith and her sister changing quarters to a more distant room. Mrs. Sheridan returned to her chair in the library.

"They won't bother you any more, papa," she said, in a comforting voice. "She told me at lunch he'd phoned he wanted to come up this evening, and I said I thought he'd better wait a few days, but she said she'd already told him he could." She paused, then added, rather guiltily: "I got kind of a notion maybe Roscoe don't like him as much as he used to. Maybe—maybe you better ask Roscoe, papa." And as Sheridan nodded solemnly, she concluded, in haste: "Don't say I said to. I might be wrong about it, anyway."

He nodded again, and they sat for some time in a silence which Mrs. Sheridan broke with a little sniff, having fallen into a reverie that brought tears. "That Miss Vertrees was a good girl," she said. "She was all right."

Her husband evidently had no difficulty in following her train of thought, for he nodded once more, affirmatively.

"Did you— How did you fix it about the—the Realty company?" she faltered. "Did you—"

He rose heavily, helping himself to his feet by the arms of his chair. "I fixed it," he said, in a husky voice. He went to her, put his hand upon her shoulder, and drew a long, audible, tremendous breath. "It's my bedtime, mamma; I'm going up." When he reached the door he stopped and spoke again, without turning to look at her. "The Realty company'll go right on just the same," he said. "It's like— it's like sand, mamma. It puts me in mind of children playing in a sand-pile. One of 'em sticks his finger in the sand-pile and makes a hole, and another of 'em 'll pat the place with his hand, and all the little grains of sand run in and fill it up and settle against one another; and then, right away it's flat on top again, and you can't tell there ever was a hole there. The Realty company 'll go on all right, mamma. There ain't anything anywhere. I reckon that wouldn't go right on—just the same."

And he passed out slowly into the hall; then they heard his heavy tread upon the stairs.

Mrs. Sheridan, rising to follow him, turned a piteous face to her son. "It's so forlorn," she said, chokingly. "That's the first time he spoke since he came in the house this evening. I know it must 'a' hurt him to hear Edith laughing with that Lamborn. She'd oughtn't to let him come, right the very first evening this way; she'd oughtn't to do it!" She just seems to lose her head over him, and it scares me. You heard what Sybil said the other day, and—and you heard what—what—"

"What Edith said to Sybil?" Bibbs finished the sentence for her.

"We can't have any trouble of that kind," she said. "Oh, it looks as if you're up to this new house had brought a new awful lot of trouble. It scares me!"

press your sister? She says you drove into the smoking room out of the house. You'd ought to be more considerate."

Bibbs smiled faintly, noting that Edith's door was open, with Edith's naive shadow motionless across its threshold. "Yes," he said. "He doesn't appear to be much of a 'man's man.' He ran at just a glimpse of one."

Edith's shadow moved; her voice came quivering: "You call yourself one?"

"No, no," he answered. "I said 'just a glimpse of one.' I didn't claim—"

But her door slammed angrily; and he turned to his mother.

"There," he said, sighing. "That's almost the first time in my life I ever tried to be a man of action, mother, and I succeeded perfectly in what I tried to do. As a consequence I feel like a horse thief!"

"You hurt her feelin's," she groaned. "You must 'a' gone at it too rough, Bibbs."

He looked upon her wanly. "That's my trouble, mother," he murmured. "I'm a plain, blunt fellow. I have rough ways, and I'm a rough man."

For once she perceived some meaning in his queerness. "Hush your nonsense!" she said, good-naturedly, the astral of a troubled smile appearing. "You go to bed."

He kissed her and obeyed.

Edith gave him a cold greeting the next morning at the breakfast table.

"You mustn't do that under a misapprehension," he warned her, when they were alone in the dining room.

"Do what under a what?" she asked.

"Speak to me. I came into the smoking room last night on purpose," he told her, gravely. "I have a prejudice against that young man."

She laughed. "I guess you think it means a great deal who you have prejudices against!" In mockery she adopted the manner of one who implores. "Bibbs, for pity's sake promise me, don't use your influence with papa against him!" And she laughed louder.

"Listen," he said, with peculiar earnestness. "I'll tell you now, because—because I've decided I'm one of the family." And then, as if the earnestness were too heavy for him to carry it further, he continued, in his usual tone, "I'm drunk with power, Edith."

"What do you want to tell me?" she demanded, brusquely.

"Lamborn made love to Sybil," he said.

Edith hooted. "She did to him?"

"No," he said, gravely. "I know."

"How?"

"I was there, one day a week ago, with Roscoe, and I heard Sybil and Lamborn."

Edith screamed with laughter. "You were with Roscoe—and you heard Lamborn making love to Sybil?"

"No, I heard them quarrelling."

"You're funnier than ever, Bibbs!" she cried. "You say he made love to her because you heard them quarrelling?"

"That's it. If you want to know what's between people, you can—by the way they quarrel."

"You'll kill me, Bibbs! What were they quarrelling about?"

"Nothing. That's how I know. People who quarrel over nothing! It's always certain—"

Edith stopped laughing abruptly, but continued her mockery. "You ought to know. You've had so much experience, yourself."

"I haven't any, Edith," he said. "My life has been about as exciting as an incubator chicken's. But I look out through the glass you must know what effect such stuff would have upon me!" She rose, visibly agitated.

"What if it was true?" she demanded, bitterly. "What if it was true a hundred times over? You sit there with your silly face half ready to giggle and half ready to snifle, and tell me stories like that, about Sybil picking on Bobby Lamborn and worrying him to death, and you think it matters to me? What if I already knew all about their quarrelling? What if I understood why what's between people, you can—by the way they quarrel."

"You'll kill me, Bibbs! What were they quarrelling about?"

"Nothing. That's how I know. People who quarrel over nothing! It's always certain—"

Edith stopped laughing abruptly, but continued her mockery. "You ought to know. You've had so much experience, yourself."

"I haven't any, Edith," he said. "My life has been about as exciting as an incubator chicken's. But I look out through the glass you must know what effect such stuff would have upon me!" She rose, visibly agitated.

"What if it was true?" she demanded, bitterly. "What if it was true a hundred times over? You sit there with your silly face half ready to giggle and half ready to snifle, and tell me stories like that, about Sybil picking on Bobby Lamborn and worrying him to death, and you think it matters to me? What if I already knew all about their quarrelling? What if I understood why she—" She broke off with a violent gesture, a sweep of her arm extended at full length, as if she hurled something to the ground. "Do you think a girl that really cared for a man would pay any attention to that? Or to you, Bibbs Sheridan?"

He looked at her steadily, and his gaze was as keen as it was steady. She met it with unwavering pride. Finally he nodded slowly, as if she had spoken and he meant to agree with what she said.

"Ah, yes," he said. "I won't come into the smoking room again. I'm sorry, Edith. Nobody can make you see anything now. You'll never see me until you see for yourself. The rest of us will do better to keep out of it—especially me!"

"That's sensible," she responded, curtly. "You're most surprising of all when you're sensible, Bibbs."

"Yes," he sighed. "I'm a dull dog. Shake hands and forgive me, Edith."

Thawing so far as to smile, she underwent this brief ceremony, and George appeared, summoning Bibbs to the library; Doctor Gurney was waiting there, he announced. And Bibbs gave his sister a shy but friendly touch upon the shoulder as a complement to the handshaking, and left her.

Doctor Gurney was sitting by the log fire, alone in the room, and he merely glanced over his shoulder when his patient came in. He was not over fifty, in spite of Sheridan's habitual "ole Doc Gurney." He was gray, however, almost as thin as Bibbs, and nearly always he looked drowsy.

"Your father telephoned me yesterday afternoon, Bibbs," he said, not rising. "Wants me to 'look you over' again. Come around here in front of me—between me and the fire. I want to see if I can see through you."

"You mean you're too sleepy to move," returned Bibbs, complying. "I think you'll notice that I'm getting worse."

"Taken on about twelve pounds," said Gurney. "Thirteen, maybe."

"Twelve."

"Well, it won't do." The doctor rubbed his eyelids. "You're so much better I'll have to use some machinery on you before we can know just where you are. You come down to my place this afternoon. Walk down—all the way. I suppose you know why your father wants to know."

Bibbs nodded. "Machine shop."

"Still hate it?"

Bibbs nodded again.

"Don't blame you!" the doctor grunted. "Yes, I expect it'll make a lump in your gizzard again. Well, what do you say? Shall I tell him you've got the old lump there yet? You still want to write, do you?"

"What's the use?" Bibbs said, smiling ruefully. "My kind of writing?"

"Yes," the doctor agreed. "I suppose if you broke away and lived on roots and berries until you began to attract the favorable attention of editors you might be able to hope for an income of four or five hundred dollars a year by the time you're fifty."

"That's about it," Bibbs murmured. "Of course I know what you want to do," said Gurney, drowsily. "You don't hate the machine shop only; you hate the whole show—the noise and jar and dirt, the scramble—the whole blomin' craze to 'get on.' You'd like to go somewhere in Algiers, or to Taormina, perhaps, and bask on a balcony, smelling flowers and writing sonnets. You'd grow fat on it and have a delicate little life all to yourself. Well, what do you say? I can be like sixty, Bibbs! Shall I tell your father he'll lose another of his boys if you don't go to Sicily?"

"I don't want to go to Sicily," said Bibbs. "I want to stay right here."

The doctor's drowsiness disappeared for a moment, and he gave his patient a sharp glance. "It's a risk," he said. "I think we'll find you're so much better he'll send you back to the shop pretty quick. Something's got hold of you lately; you're not quite so lachrymose as you used to be. But I warn you: I think the shop will knock you just as it did before, and perhaps ever harder, Bibbs."

He rose, shook himself, and rubbed his eyelids. "Well, when we go over this afternoon what are we going to say about it?"

"Tell him I'm ready," said Bibbs, looking at the floor.

"Oh no," Gurney laughed. "Not quite yet; but you may be almost. We'll see. Don't forget I said to walk down."

And when the examination was concluded, that afternoon, the doctor informed Bibbs that the result was much too satisfactory to be pleasing. "Here's a new 'situation' for a one-act farce," he said, gloomily, to his next patient when Bibbs had gone. "Doctor tells a man he's well, and that's his death sentence, likely. Dam' funny world!"

Bibbs decided to walk home. It was a dingy afternoon, and the smoke was evident not only to Bibbs' sight, but to his nostrils, though most of the pedestrians were so saturated with the smell that they could no longer detect it. This incited a train of thought which continued till he approached the new house. As he came to the corner of Mr. Vertrees' lot Mr. Vertrees' daughter emerged from the front door and walked thoughtfully down the path to the picket gate. She was unconscious of the approach of the pedestrian and did not see him until she had opened the gate and he was almost beside her. Then she looked up, and as she saw him she started visibly. And if this thing had happened to Robert Lamborn, he would have had a thought far beyond the horizon of faint-hearted Bibbs' thoughts. Lamborn, indeed, would have spoken his thought. He would have said:

"You jumped because you were thinking of me!"

(Continued To-Morrow)

Warning The Public

At Hamm's Store, you buy 6 spool 8 Clark's O. N. F. thread 25 cents, Dried Sweet Peaches 5 cents per pound, 8 apple Lancaster Gingham 8 cents per yard, 100 Roasted Coffee 15; Arbuckle 25. We sell Chick Feed 2 cents per pound. 3 cents elsewhere. Farmers before the busy season opens, bring your Corn to us, shelled or unshelled. We will granulate it into Chick Feed FREE OF CHARGE. Medicine on hand for all diseases of Poultry. 1 cloth 18 cents per yard, elsewhere 14 1000 pounds broom. Rice to start young turkeys and chickens 4 cents per pound.

S. S. W. HAMMERS

(Medical Advertising) THE PROPER COURSE

Information of Priceless Value to Every Gettysburg Citizen.

How to act in an emergency is knowledge if inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with kidney backache, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement should add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of a Gettysburg woman who used them and who publicly tells of the benefit derived?

Miss Mary Dillman, 265 Washington St., Gettysburg, says: "My back was very weak and hurt me all the time. Backache bore down on me like a great weight. My kidneys were so frequent in action that I became weak and tired out. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the People's Drug Store, gave me fine relief. They have never since failed to benefit me when it has been necessary for me to use such a medicine."

Price 50c, at all druggists. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Dillman had. Foster-McMann Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

EGGS FOR HATCHING

S. C. W. Leghorns, $3.50 per 100 from thoroughbred stock. Also chicks

L. D. PLANK
Phone 367 E. Gettysburg, Pa.

Clover Seed For Sale

Home Grown. A limited amount. State Test, 99-39.

J. L. BIGHAM
Route 4 Gettysburg.
United Telephone

FOR SALE

12000 Shingles

OSTS and RAILS for post fence and also LOCUST and CHESTNUT wire fence posts.

L. M. BISHOP,
ORRTANNA.

Bad Bed Sore Nurse Healed it With

Sykes Comfort Powder

Here is Proof and Nurse's Letter:

Miss M. E. Barlow, Trained Nurse, Atlanta, Ga., says: "I had a patient with a very bad bed sore. Sykes Comfort Powder healed it quickly and permanently after everything else failed."

A scientifically medicated, healing powder, stops itching, chafing, heals irritation and skin soreness. For 29 years the nurse's best friend in nursery and sick room. 25c. all dealers.

Trial Box sent free on request.

THE COMFORT POWDER CO., Boston, Mass.

Spring Sale Dates- 1916

APRIL
12—C. A. Hershey
15—W. S. Ritts
18—John T. Keiser
22—Clarence Snyder
Franklin
Mt. Pleasant
Mt. Pleasant
Straban
Anthony
Thompson
Thompson

Effective Irony.
Irony is the most effective way of exposing vice and folly.

FOR SALE

Well located property on York street with stable.

Apply at Times Office

PUBLIC SALE

TWENTY TWO HEAD OF HOLSTEIN CATTLE
ON TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1916

The undersigned, intending to reduce his stock, will sell at what is known as the Edward Keiser farm in Mt. Pleasant township, situated along the road leading from Bonneauville to Golden Station, two miles from the former and one and one-half mile from the latter place, the following: TWENTY TWO HEAD OF HOLSTEIN CATTLE

Five milk cows from two of which the calves have just been sold, one was a first calf and the other was a fourth calf; cow carrying her second calf and will be fresh in July; two Fall cows, one carrying her second calf and the other one will have her fifth calf. Six heifers that will be fresh by the day of sale or shortly thereafter. Five heifers that will be fresh in the fall. Five young heifers. Good Holstein bull, will weigh about 800 lbs.

THIRTY HEAD OF HOGS
Consisting of small shoats and pigs. FIVE HUNDRED BUSHELS OF GOOD CORN.

Sixty bushels of good SEED OATS. The seed for this oats came from the West last Spring and it produced especially good. It will be cleaned ready to put in the drill.

A credit of 11 months will be given on sums of $5.00 and over by purchasers giving their notes with approval, security. Four per cent will be allowed for cash.

JOHN P. KEISER,
Thompson, Auct.
C. F. Myers, Clerk.

Medical Advertising

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SEVEN HEIFERS: ranging in age from 4 to 18 months. Also a few EXTRA GOOD CALVES.

50 HEAD BIG TYPE POLAND CHINA HOGS

17 BROOD SOWS: some with pigs by their side, bred gilts, sows 5 to 6 months old, down to 12 week pigs.

12 BOARS, ranging in age from 3, 5, 6, and 10 months.

Most of these hogs are registered or can be. They are bred from such sires as App's Giant Orange, No. 229761; Wonder Price, 2nd, No. 194987; and Golden Perfection F.,

SEE COMPROMISE IN NAVY PLANS

Bill May Call For 2 Battleships and Four Cruisers.

THE VESSELS TO BE SWIFT

Scout Ships Will Have Speed of
Thirty-five Knots an Hour—Plans
Almost Ready.

Washington, April 10.—The house naval subcommittee on appropriations began work today framing the naval appropriation bill which includes the administration's half billion dollar, five-year program for new fighting ships.

Chairman Padgett hopes to lay the completed measure before the house by April 25.

While there are many legislative features in the bill which will require debate in the subcommittee and later before the full committee, the big fight is expected to come over the 1917 program for capital ships. Secretary Daniels has recommended the authorization of two dreadnoughts and two battle cruisers. The navy general board contended for three battleships and four battle cruisers.

Present indications are that the subcommittee will compromise between the two views and recommend two battleships and four battle cruisers.

At the navy department work on the designs of the new ships to be authorized has progressed so rapidly that much of the delay heretofore experienced in advertising for navy craft will be eliminated. Plans for the battleships, large and small submarines, destroyers, gunboats, hospital ships and ammunition ships are virtually completed.

Plans for the battle cruisers and scout cruisers are also under way, but will take some time to complete. These vessels and the 900-ton class submarines which Secretary Daniels has added to his program are new types for navy designers.

An illustration of the problems involved became known in regard to designs for the scout cruisers. The general board fixed thirty knots an hour as the minimum speed for these eyes of the fleet. Since designers took up the task of planning the ships, however, they have hit upon a way to produce 35-knot craft of enormous cruising radius. As now planned the scouts will far outclass in speed and range of action anything ever laid down or even contemplated by any naval power.

The scouts will employ geared steam turbines to attain high speed, the system now installed in most successful destroyers and which has been found best adapted to craft smaller than battle cruisers, for which exceptional speed is desired. At cruising speed, however, these engines will develop less than two per cent of their horsepower, although their consumption of coal is enormous.

The 1917 destroyers will also be of 35-knot speed instead of 32, the present standard.

EMBALMS HIMSELF ALIVE

Dead Drunk Only, Was Casey When He Drank Preservative.

Chicago, April 10.—James Casey, a "spiffed" person, must believe in preparedness.

At any rate, he took his embalming fluid before death, drank two quarts of it, and now is in the County hospital in a highly pickled condition.

An excited woman called the police saying a man, evidently dying, was lying on the sidewalk. The ambulance corps found Mr. Casey, with the empty two-quart bottle tightly clutched in his hand. Its contents were inside of him, and even Casey, accustomed to assorted libations, could not just assimilate the new drink.

"I have no idea where I got it," he managed to say. "I must have been dead drunk."

"You're dead drunk all right," the hospital doctors assured him.

Woman Hangs Herself.

Philadelphia, April 10.—Suspending a noose from overhead gas and water pipes, Mrs. Annie Young, forty-two years old, hanged herself in the cellar of her home, 3547 North Seventh street. The body was found by the woman's thirteen-year-old son, James. Mrs. Young had been melancholy for some time and is said to have made an attempt on her life once before by inhaling gas.

Mother and Daughter Suffocated.

Detroit, April 10.—Mrs. Lillian Diebler and her two young daughters were suffocated and two persons were injured in a fire which swept the Diebler home on the east side. The mother and children were trapped in a room on the second floor, and although they were not burned, all were dead when firemen reached them.

Twelve Hurt in Molten Spray.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 10.—Twelve foreigners were badly burned at the Woodlawn plant of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company when a ladle of hot metal was accidentally overturned and exploded. Several of the injured men are in dangerous condition.

To Make Yourself Unpleasant.

Another way to make yourself unpleasant is to sympathize with a man about something he didn't know was the matter with him.

NOW THE AUTO SPEAKEASY

Whiskey and Beer Peddled From Cars in "Dry" Territory.

Salisbury, Md., April 10.—The authorities in this city and vicinity are making an effort to break up what appears to be a regular route of automobile barrooms, which supply Delmar, this city and surrounding towns, such as Hebron, Shad Point, Fruitland and Mardella Springs.

It has been learned on good authority that big shipments of whiskey and beer are shipped to Delmar and conveyed from there in automobiles and peddled among the small towns.

The traffic is carried on late at night, and although the police have been on the watch several nights they have been unable to get any direct evidence on which to prosecute the offenders.

BANKER AND WIFE DEAD

Scranton Couple Found in Bed, Victims of Gas.

Scranton, Pa., April 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Cassese were found dead in bed the victims of gas asphyxiation at the home of Mrs. Cassese's sister, Mrs. Daniel Mills.

The coroner said it was an accident.

Mr. Cassese was one of the owners of the Cassese private bank, which recently closed its doors, announcing that it would make an early liquidation. The liquidation is still under way.

HARDING GIVES ISSUES IN ADVANCE KEYNOTE

Republicans For Protective Tariff and Preparedness.

Chicago, April 10.—Preparedness, Americanism and a return to the protective tariff will be the paramount issues in the 1916 presidential campaign.

Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Ohio and chosen as temporary chairman of the Republican national convention in June, in an advance keynote speech at the annual Appomattox banquet of the Hamilton club, outlined the battle lines.

Senator Harding said the tariff was the principal issue, but it will be closely intertwined with preparedness and its problems. The senator attacked the Democratic party's record of the last three years as inefficient and disastrous—saved from complete collapse only by an influx of temporary trade due to the European war.

He attacked President Wilson's Mexican policies and demanded a foreign policy which will protect all the rights of Americans. Senator Harding said:

"It is useless to talk of 1912. I had rather regret the unhappiness and its attending defeats and turn to invite all who believe in Republican principles to touch elbows again and move on to the triumphant national return which has already been hailed so gladly in so many states."

"All that the Wilson administration has said concerning its economic policy is disproved by the facts, and is challenged by the change of attitude on sugar and the tariff commission."

"A party committed to a tariff for revenue only has again proven a party deficient in revenue always."

WROTE HIS SUICIDE ESSAY

College Man Who Used Gas Left Note Explaining His Feelings.

Chicago, April 10.—A "suicide essay," penned in the shadow of self-inflicted death, was read in a coroner's inquest into the death of Herman R. Katanick.

The jury decided that Katanick, who was a first-year student at the University of Chicago, had ended his life while temporarily insane. The youth killed himself by inhaling gas in his room.

"I am not suffering from an aberration of the intellect," he wrote. "I am fully aware of the action I am about to take. I have no fear of death. Being of a sensitive, generous, impulsive nature, it is possible that at another moment I might have regretted my step. I do not now. I shall admit that in one sense I regret my departure. I feel within me the rumblings of a brilliant career. I firmly believe that my name would have crossed the Atlantic."

Vote on Sugar Repealer Tomorrow.

Washington, April 10.—The free sugar repeal bill will be voted on by the senate not later than tomorrow under an agreement. It was taken up today as soon as the senate met. Senator Simmons reminded his colleagues that, under existing law, sugar goes on the free list May 1.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE CHEF SPEAKS.

SALAD DRESSING.—Cut some crisp romaine across the leaf in about half inch lengths. Arrange these in a salad bowl, making a hollow in the center. Take some watercress, chop it up slightly and make a nest in the middle of the salad bowl over the romaine. Into this nest place two balls of cream cheese, one colored pink with paprika, the other left white. Make a dressing for the salad as follows: Regular French dressing with celery salt, a little more English mustard, mashed pickle walnuts and hushenuts in equal quantities. Mix thoroughly.

Risque des Indiens.—Half milk and half cream in a deep pan. Into this throw enough crab meat to give the cream a full flavor of the crab, let come to a boil three or four times and strain through a fine Chinese sieve. Season with a little celery salt, salt, white pepper and curry powder. When about to serve add six very small steamed little neck clams for each person.

Turban of Spinach, Florida.—Proceed as for a timbale, using egg to hold the spinach together. Place in a circular buttered mold and punch. When done unmold, meanwhile saute eggplant cut in half inch squares fried in butter. Arrange this in the center of the turban of spinach and serve a Worcestershire and Madeira sauce at same time.

Potatoes or Sweet Potatoes, Markle.—Bake the potatoes and take out of shell; in chafing dish fry with butter, paprika and salt. When about ready to serve add a good glass of port wine, stirring thoroughly, and serve.

Scrambled Eggs, Crisfield.—Proceed as for regular scrambled eggs, adding a little cream while beating. Season with salt, white pepper and celery salt; then throw into the pan. When almost cooked add some fresh crab meat and mix without breaking, then serve.

A la Currie.—Six hard boiled eggs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half a teaspoonful of curry powder, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one cupful of hot milk. Melt the butter and the flour and seasoning and stir in the hot milk. Add the eggs, which have been cut in thick slices, cook until the eggs are heated through and serve with toast.

Time to Consider.
When a young man discovers that a girl's giggling doesn't irritate him, he is in danger.—Knickerbocker Press.

DR. M. T. DILL DENTIST Biglerville, Pa.

Will be at Bendersville the first and third Friday of each month; at Arendsville the second and fourth Friday and at York Springs every Wednesday.
BOTH PHONES.

FOR SALE

Frame for a good sized barn, complete. White Oak.

Apply

Times Office

FOR SALE

Lucretia dewberry plants $1.50 per hundred. Corsican strawberry plants, 25 cents per hundred.

W. C. HOFFMAN
ASPER, PA.

United Phone
Biglerville Exchange

Eggs For Hatching

S. C. White Orphington
Kellerstrass strain. From pen that won 1st prize at Gettysburg show.

[ALSO]

S. C. Buff Orphington Eggs

[Cook strain.]

75 cents for 15

Charles Pfeiffer

GETTYSBURG

United Phone 639E

NOTICE

On account of the bad weather Saturday April 8th the demonstration of the Free Sewing Machine was postponed until

MAY the 6th 1916

at which time we will give the demonstration, and give the Machine away Free.

Don't forget the date MAY 6th.

Spangler's Music House

GETTYSBURG, PA.

HOW THE SCALES TELL OF HEALTH OR SICKNESS

The majority of people get weighed occasionally at the corner grocery or on the penny in the slot scales in the railway station. If they happen to miss these two points which always seem to be conveniently equipped with scales, they are apt to go from one year's end to another without giving their weight consideration. As a matter of fact, it is an exceedingly important indication of one's physical condition. A continuous decrease in one's weight should be regarded with suspicion.

One of the first things which is recorded at the State Tuberculosis Dispensaries when anyone calls for examination is their weight. At each subsequent visit they are weighed and a record kept. The same thing is done with patients at the State's Tuberculosis Sanatoria. Each week patients in charge of the various nurses are weighed and the figures recorded. In taking their position on the scales, the nurses always face them away from the balance in order that they may not be depressed if the showing is not satisfactory.

Remarkable increases in weight are common with patients at Mount Ailo, Cresson and Hamburg Sanatoria and the records in the office of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, at Harrisburg, show that individuals have gained as much as seventy-five pounds after three months' treatment.

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

Prepared Especially For This Newspaper
by Pictorial Review

Smart Suit in Blue Serge.

of blue being used. Inlaid collar and cuffs of faille are suggested for the trimming.

Blue is essentially a spring color and it is more fashionable than ever this year. This tailored costume is carried out in fine men's wear serge. Today's dressmaking lesson features the jacket, which is made with a yoke and trimmed with straps, which may be omitted, if desired. As the collar is convertible, the front of the coat may be buttoned high or rolled back to form revers. In medium size the dress requires 5 1/2 yards 54-inch material. If made separately, the coat calls for 2 1/2 yards of serge.

As this is a model that will be used for pongee, taffeta, faille and other fashionable fabrics this season, it is well to study well the method of cutting it. Notice how the back of the coat and back of the yoke are laid out on the lengthwise fold. Opposite these sections, in the direction of the selvedge edge, are placed the front, front of the yoke and lower sleeve sections. Continuing along the upper row are the pocket and cuffs laid on a lengthwise thread. In the center are pocket and skirt section, while on the bottom row are the under-facing and belt.

If the coat is desired without straps cut off the straps as indicated by small "o" perforations. If desired with strap in belt only cut off the lower rounded end of strap on small "o" perforations.

Trimmed with inlaid collar and cuffs of faille or white cloth this jacket is as smart a model as has been shown this season.

Pictorial Review Jacket No. 6657. Sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Price, 15 cents Skirt No. 6499. Sizes, 16 to 20 years. Price, 15 cents.

Charity.

What is wanted in society everywhere is the generous temper which seeks the good in human nature and refuses to think the worst. It is as easy to think well of people as ill; it is as easy to put a fair construction upon their motives as to impute evil. Among the various revivals of which society just now has sore need, let us not forget to pray for a revival of that true and heaven-born charity which rejoiceth not in iniquity but rejoiceth in truth.

To Press Rain-Spotted Clothes.
A garment spotted by the rain may be freshened by laying it over an ironing board and steaming it. This is done by placing a damp cloth over the article and ironing.—Woman's Home Companion.

Daily Thought.

The happiness of your life, and its power, and its part or rank in earth or in heaven, depend on the way you pass your days now.—Ruskin.

DON'T BE SO DOWNHEARTED SON! I ALSO HAD MANY DISAPPOINTMENTS IN MY EARLY LIFE—STILL, I FINALLY GOT MY CHANCE TO SHINE!

BUT THIS IS HOW HE DID IT

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS

So far Father's wealth is not increasing very rapidly

No. 1786—Smart indeed is this Childs Sport Coat or variegated check. Belled all around. Fancy shaped collar and cuffs, trimmed with Copen Blue rimmed buttons of self material. A smart and durable coat for the little one. Price $5.50

No. 1787—The ever-faithful Blue Serge is called upon to style this Child's Coat, which is box pleated in back and front. Has an over-collar of white embroidered marquisette. Belled all around—fancy buttons, lined throughout. A model that will please every child who sees it. Price $5.50

The Little One Knows

NO one who has observed the behavior of a child arrayed in a new coat can doubt the keen satisfaction of the little one at her transformation. And it will not do to suppose that any coat "fills the bill."

What a child lacks in style-sense, she makes up in intuition. She can tell in a moment what impression the new garment makes on the "olders." She can tell if they really mean it when they glance or smile their admiration. And if they don't admire it, the child feels it just as an older person would.

You owe it to the little one to select her coat with the same fastidious care that you devote to your own wardrobe. In this we can help you wonderfully, for our child-stylists are works of art and our sales-people are splendid judges of what your child requires.

G. W. WEAVER & SON

Moth in Your Clothes?

were they full of holes? Or if you have burned a hole in your best Suit let

BREHM, THE TAILOR.

fix it so that it is impossible to notice the repair.

No matter what color or kind of material we can guarantee the repair to be practically invisible. This work is done by a NEW PROCESS and is quite worth investigating.

Pressing
Scouring

Dry Cleaning
Alterations.

Last And Best Number

OF

Biglerville Lecture Course

Friday Eve., APRIL 14th

THE DIETRICKS

Versatile Entertainers

Tickets on sale at Thomas Brothers Store

EGGS FOR HATCHING

R. C. Rhode Island Reds, the prize winning kind. Blue ribbon winners at Hagerstown, Gettysburg, York, etc. Prices reasonable. Free Booklet.

W. G. Horner,

Catalpa Poultry Farm,
R. D. 2, Gettysburg, Pa.

NOTICE

Auto tops covered in Mohair or rubber goods, curtains and lights, new bows and sockets, cushions rebuilt and repaired. Slip covers for tops and seats, painting at reasonable prices.

BUPP BROTHERS

Carriage Works
124 N Stratton St.

MEXICAN TROUBLE LIKE INDIAN WAR

Army Still Has Officers With This Kind of Experience.

WATER SUPPLY A PUZZLE.

Far More Difficult Task to Capture Cuban and Philippine Leaders Than it is to Run Down the Outlaws of Mexico—Entire Country Has Been Taught to Hate Americans.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 10.—[Special.]—There are a few army officers still on the active list who know something about Indian fighting. They took part when they were youngsters in the last of the Indian wars, if such they could be called. Many of the officers had experiences in Cuba and the Philippines, but they know that neither their opponents in the Philippines nor in Cuba were any such wilderness fighters as the Indians.

The Mexicans more nearly resemble the Indian fighters. They also have the advantage of inhabiting the same kind of country, even a worse country for the movement of troops, for there were facilities for obtaining water in the wild Indian country of a quarter of a century ago that are not found in the Mexican country where the American troops have been operating in pursuit of Villa.

Hard Task For the Army.

Some of us may remember that it was a hard task which General Funston performed when he captured Aguinaldo, but at that time the Philippines had about enough fighting. Aguinaldo was about ready to quit, and many of his followers were willing to help along his capture in order to end the warfare. It will be a long time before that condition arises in Mexico. Those Mexicans have been taught to hate the Americans. They are best in the guerrilla-like warfare which they are following, and they have done everything to make the capture of Villa one of the hardest tasks the army has faced for years.

Overplayed the Pipe Dream.

The fellow who wrote the story and made Roosevelt president, Root secretary of state, Lodge secretary of war and Bacon secretary of the treasury and Gardner secretary of the navy overplayed what might have been a first class pipe dream. If he had stopped after making Root secretary of state the country would have swallowed it, for there is a general desire in these times to have a man like Root secretary of state. Some of Roosevelt's friends proposed that much of a continuation as long ago as last spring.

But every other suggestion was absurd. Lodge would not leave his easy life in the senate for a hard working cabinet job. Roosevelt would not have a firebrand like Gardner in his cabinet. As to Bacon—well, Roosevelt will have a politician at the head of the treasury if he is again president.

Militia Wins.

Everybody might have expected that the militia would win in the contest with the regular army in legislation for preparedness. The regular army has no political pull and no votes; the militia has both. Military experts can prove by the facts and figures that the regular army is the best fighting force, but the politicians can prove that the militia is the best political force; hence the militia has won most of the points thus far in the preparedness program. Garrison knew that would happen when he lost the president's support for his scheme of army legislation.

The "k" and Preparedness.

Nearly every man who wanted something in the river and harbor bill insisted that it was in line of helping preparedness. When Congressman Rogers of Massachusetts insisted that there should be a letter "k" added to the name of the river Merrimack in his state Congressman Sims of Tennessee said:

"I shall oppose the amendment unless the gentleman says it is done in the interest of preparedness. We are not asking anything that does not include national preparedness."

Marshall and the Rules.

Vice President Marshall breaks into the proceedings of the senate once in awhile and reads the rules and declares his intention of enforcing them, but he never succeeds. The senate rules cannot be enforced. They would block all business. As Marshall remarked the other day, they "are more honored in the breach than the observance."

Locking the Doors.

"The doorkeeper will lock the doors, and the clerk will fill the roll." That announcement is made by the speaker time after time when it is found that no quorum is in the house after the point has been made. And the doorkeepers lock the north, east and west doors. Those reaching the corridor, four in number, on the south side are left open. Then there is a door opening from each cloakroom on the north side of the hall into the corridor, and members step out of them without hindrance. In fact, members come and go at will. The "locking of the doors" is an old formality and means absolutely nothing.

Wanted Steam.

"A man dat argues jes' foh de sake of takin'" said Uncle Eben, "is like an engineer dat uses up all his steam blowin' de whistle."

Two Sisters

By ETHEL HOLMES

Margaret and Belle Whitecomb were sisters, and when they reached a marriageable age the matter of a career was discussed between them.

"I believe," said Margaret, "in the entire equality of woman with man." "I believe," said Belle, "that a woman who marries should be her husband's partner in every respect."

"I am going into business," said Margaret, "and shall show the world that a woman can run a big business as well as a man."

"If you can secure the management of a business," her sister supplied. Margaret was twenty years old when she secured a position as typewriter and stenographer, a sort of secretary to a friend of her father's who managed a large manufacturing business. She thus started with every advantage. Johnny Hartwell, an office boy, fifteen years old, started in at the same time as she. One day he said to her:

"Miss Whitecomb, I'd like to make a deal with you. Teach me stenography, and whenever you have to be absent for a time I'll do your work for you."

Margaret agreed. She taught Johnny stenography, and he remained at the office after business hours, practicing typewriting on her machine. He kept his word, and when she was unable to do her work he did it for her. As for Johnny, he was never absent from business. What he did for Margaret he did for any one else in the office; he helped them all and learned something of the duties of each.

When Johnny was nineteen years old some one was needed to go somewhere to straighten out something. Margaret would have liked to go, but she was not very well at the time. Johnny was tough as a nut and was sent. He had learned so much about the business that he found it very easy to undo the snarl. He succeeded so well that he was thereafter used to go about undoing snarls and accomplishing objects. Pretty soon it was generally understood that when the head of the concern stepped out Johnny would step into his place.

Meanwhile Margaret was gaining nothing in a business way. Unfortunately for her success, a certain man wanted her to marry him. Whenever she was discouraged in carrying out her agreement with herself she felt like yielding and marrying her suitor. Johnny married, and when a little girl came to him he remarked:

"By crackey, now I've got to hump it, sure enough, to put stuffing into the kid!"

And he worked twice as hard as ever before.

Margaret within eight years occupied four different positions. But, not being any nearer a business manager than before, she retired. Going into Johnny's office one day, she said to him:

"Johnny, years ago you and I started in this business, I having every advantage of you. Now you are at the head of it and I'm out of the race. Is it because I am a woman and you men won't give us a chance?"

"In this particular case," was the reply, "it is because when I came in here I at once became absorbed in my work. When I wasn't at work I was miserable. I was four years younger than you and had four years' advantage. I never had to be away from business. I was so eager for work that I did some of your work and some of every one else in the business. In this way I learned it. When some one was needed for a purpose I was the best equipped for it. Perhaps you thought if I failed you could marry. I felt that if I failed I couldn't marry. When I did marry I realized that the responsibility of a family was on me; if I didn't succeed the wife and the kid would starve. If you could have been absorbed as I was and stood the racket of training as I did perhaps you might have got where I am today. But you couldn't be absorbed, and you couldn't stand the physical requirements."

"Thank you very much," said Margaret, and she went away to procure her trousseau. When her first child came she remarked:

"I should have been at this business instead of the other eight years ago."

Meanwhile her sister Belle had married a successful business man. There was friction at first because she thought her husband did not tell her enough about his affairs, but several children engaged her attention, so that when he talked to her about his business she was glad when he had finished.

But one day he brought a man home to dinner, with whom he told his wife that he was intending to enter into a large business deal.

"If you do," said his wife, "you'll be swindled."

"What makes you think that?" asked her husband, surprised.

"There's something about his nose I don't like."

The husband laughed. One day her husband said to his wife:

"Do you remember, dear, a man I brought home to dinner, whose nose was not to your taste, and on that account you pronounced him a rascal?"

"I do."

"Well, your remark was the feather that turned the scale. I did not make the deal. He has swindled every one who trusted him and decamped."

"That was to be expected."

"On account of his nose, I suppose."

"Johnny has cut another tooth," was the irrelevant reply.

(Medical Advertising)

Colds Relieved Without Dosing

If you have tried "Internal" medicines without success, we want you to try the "External" treatment—Vick's "Vapo-Rub" Salve. Apply hot wet towels over the throat and chest to open the pores, then rub Vick's in well and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The body warmth releases healing vapors that are inhaled with each breath, and, in addition, Vick's is absorbed through the pores. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

VICK'S "VAPORUB" SALVE

Ain't It The Truth?

You feel dressed up every time you get your shoes shined:

You feel like a millionaire when you find a dollar in last year's vest:

You feel as if life was one glad, sweet song when your cigarettes satisfy you:

MECCA always satisfies!

Ain't It The Truth?

MECCA CIGARETTES

MECCA is made in clean, model cigarette factories, by the latest, improved cigarette machines and neat, skillful operatives.

The greatest care is taken in every detail of manufacture to maintain the incomparable MECCA Quality that makes MECCA the year-round choice of millions.

10 in the slide box 5c 20 in the oval tin package 10c

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

New Spring Clothes for Men and Young Men

New line of Men's, Young Men's and Boy's clothing and Furnishings and Shoes now ready. See the new styles for Spring, from Schloss Bros. and Co., and other FAMOUS CLOTHES makers.

Everything that's new; everything that's fashionable; everything that's the style for men and young men is here. You need a new spring suit. Come in to-day and see this splendid showing while it's new and fresh. All grades and prices from $6.00 to $22.00. RALSTON SHOES in the latest and snappiest styles for Spring in blacks and tans.

O. H. LESTZ

"THE HOME OF GOOD CLOTHES"

Corner Square & Carlisle Street

Store Open Evenings

Your Furniture Speaks For You

Most homes reflect their owners' good judgment and taste. Through the Furniture the home makers are known.

We offer you a wide choice in the matter of Furniture.

Don't buy until you see our goods. Can save you money.

H. B. BENDER

NOTICE

MY WELL DRILL is in Orrtanna.

Any one wishing drilling, call

E. G. LOWER

TABLE ROCK, PA.

Both 'Phones

FOR SALE

Full White Wyandotte eggs for hatching. 50 cents for a setting of 15. $3.00 a hundred.

F. F. McDermitt,

Route 4, Gettysburg.

United 'Phone 6261

WESTERN MARYLAND RAILWAY

Schedule Effective Sunday, Sept. 13, 1915.

Daily, leave 5:50 a. m., for Baltimore, stopping at New Oxford and Hanover.

Daily except Sunday, leave 8:31 a. m., for York and intermediate stations.

Daily, 5:51 p. m., for Baltimore, York and intermediate stations. No connection for York on Sunday.

Daily, 10:16 a. m., for Hagerstown, and intermediate stations and the West.

Daily except Sunday 5:30 p. m., for Hagerstown and intermediate stations.

Daily, 11:22 p. m., for Hagerstown, Cumberland and Pittsburgh and the West.

S. Ennes. C. F. Stewart, Gen'l Mgr. Gen'l Passenger Ag't.

PUBLIC SALE

ON SATURDAY, April 22, 1916. The undersigned, having sold his milk route, will sell at Public Sale at his farm in Straban Township, midway between Granite Station and Hunterstown, his entire herd of fine Dairy Cattle, consisting of:

20 FINE MILK COWS

3 fresh by day of sale, 3 with calves just sold off, 2 will be fresh in May, 1 in July. The rest are fall and winter cows. There are some well bred Jerseys and Guernseys in this herd; also one large Holstein Cow that is now milking nearly eight gallons of milk daily—come see her milked. These cattle are most all young, quiet and easy milkers, and there are few finer herds in the county. One Red Durham BULL, fit for service.

20 HEAD OF FINE HOGS

1 Chester White Sow, due to farrow beginning of April; balance Shoats ranging from six-weeks' old pigs to 125-lb. shoats.

Hench Junior corn worker, in good order, 1 set wagon springs, one ton capacity.

Sale to begin at 1:30 P. M., sharp. When terms will be made known by CLARENCE L. SNYDER, G. R. Thompson, Auct.

Man and the Mouse.

Did you ever see a mouse in a revolving cylindrical trap trying to climb up what it thought was an endless wire ladder? Well, that is a picture of man in the universe. And, like the mouse, it is his own active desire that keeps the whirling cylinder forever in motion.

Buildup or Bust?

A western university fraternity adopted a bulldog as its mascot. He proved he understood the duties of that office when he gave an alarm, which saved 24 of its members from death by fire. It is understood he is to have a life job.

Cause for Optimism.

When a man yields to the pleading of his wife and goes to church for the first time in thirty years, he swells up and talks about it as though he had a ticket on the New Jerusalem Limited straight to heaven.

Devil at Everything.

You are a devil at everything, and there is no kind of thing in the versal world but what you can turn your hand to.—Cervantes.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. Cook, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of the English Language and Literature, Yale Univ., April 28, 1911.

WRITE for Specimen Page, Illustrations, Etc. of WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY. G. & C. MERRIAM COMPANY. For Over 65 Years Publishers of The Genuine Webster's Dictionaries. SPRINGFIELD, MASS., U.S.A.